of the UNCHALLENGEABLE MORRIS

The New "12"

Surging power, complete silence and exotic luxury in seat-springing combined with perfect safety make this new Morris the high spot of 1938 motoring achievement. To say that this is the finest model for value that even Morris Motors have produced, is a big claim, but in this case it errs on the side of modesty. Here are a few of the starred features that go to show what this wonder car can do. These statements are taken from "The Autocar" and "The Motor"—independent texts.

ENGINE . . . The new Morris 4 cylinder O.H.V.

ACCELERATION . . . . 0—50 in 20 seconds.

SPEED . . . . . 69 m.p.h.

PETROL consumption . . . . . 28-32 m.p.g.

De Luxe Model £285

OTHER POINTS ARE:—Gears . . new 4-speed box with synchromesh on second, third and top, with silent helical pinions. ★ "Jackall" permanent hydraulic jacks. ★ New metal frame easy-chair seats with floating cushions and flush seat runners. ★ Well-less floor. Large inbuilt luggage accommodation. ★ Separate totally enclosed spare wheel carrier. Precision steering with automatic adjustment. ★ Lockheed self-compensating brakes with simplified hand adjustment. ★ Self-cancelling Trafficators. ★ Simplified chassis lubrication. ★ Draughtless ventilation type front windows. ★ Automatic ignition control. Sun visor with universal adjustment. ★ Fully floating rubber engine mountings with special stabilisers.

Prices reduced—value increased—an entirely new "12"—an entirely new economy "10"—an improved "14" (with 5-valve Crosley car radio, fitted as standard) an improved "8" with price reductions on most models.

These are the main heads of our 1938 programme. This programme has been made possible by the huge increase in Morris car sales in the Irish Free State in 1937, an increase greater than in any other country in the world. In spite of serious advances in the prices of raw materials we have been enabled to maintain and, in some cases, to reduce our prices because of the vastness of our organization and because of the highly developed efficiency of our production. Many refinements of design have been incorporated in the various models, and in no case has any material change been made with the idea of cutting down cost. Morris cars in 1938 will be more luxurious than ever.

CAR RADIO

You can have your present Morris or any other make of car, fitted with the famous 5 valve Crosley Roamio car radio for £12-12-0 (free fitting).

The 'Eight'

See this car at your dealers to-day!

Buy a Morris—it's worth the difference

The 14 H.P. 6-cylinder

Despite the fact that in Great Britain the price of this model has advanced by £23, we have succeeded in marketing it (complete with car radio) at £325. Actually when the market price of the radio has been deducted it is pounds cheaper than last year. The interior of this model has been completely redesigned and is as luxurious as could be desired.

All round improvements in design—still better springing. A new O.H.V. engine. 5-valve Crosley car radio (fitted as standard). An even more thrilling road performance, make the world's most famous light Six more delightful than ever. This model is ideal for doctors, professional men and all those who require a car capable of a really high speed over bad roads and who insist upon perfect reliability. The standard of safety in this "14" is probably higher than in any other car in existence.

DE LUXE MODEL £325 (with Radio)

The 'Fourteen-Six'

NEW CAR-PUR FINANCE TERMS.

We have also modified our Car-Pur Finance Terms, and from to-day any Morris "8" can be obtained for £30 down (including tax and insurance) and the balance can be spread over 12 or 18 months, as desired. The ten H.P. models can be obtained for a first payment of £50 (tax and insurance included). Car-Pur Finance Terms are extended to all other Morris cars and for approximately 25% of the purchase price any car can be purchased. We might point out that Car-Pur Finance is controlled by ourselves and is strictly confidential.

The New '10'

Specially designed to meet the needs of the motorist who requires the maximum in Speed—Economy—Roominess—Comfort—combined with low first and running costs.

How has it been done? Chiefly we would say by the wonderful new Power Unit. This new O.H.V. engine gives a brilliant top speed with sparkling acceleration, and the petrol consumption is 35 m.p.g (S.U. carburettor helps here). When it is taken into consideration that this car is really sturdily constructed for safety, and that it seats, with generous comfort, four adults (five if you like)—that, on top of this there is ample concealed luggage accommodation—(a word, too, about the springing of this model)—well! roads don't matter, and even more important, bends can be taken in complete safety at high speeds.

Fixed head "10" Saloon . . . £250

De Luxe "10" saloon with sliding head fitted with many luxury refinements . . £265

The 'Ten'

The world's most popular light car—

Over one hundred and sixty thousand motorists have found complete satisfaction in this "not so little" wonder car. 1938 sees a model improved by the addition of Easy-clean wheels and a new radiator grill. It is admittedly unwise to gild the lily, yet these minor changes have much improved the appearance of a car that can justifiably be called perfect.

Prices for MORRIS "8" have (in most cases) been very considerably reduced. Here they are:—

Standard two-door fixed head saloon	£175 . 0 . 0 (unaltered)
Two-door, sliding head	£197 . 10 . 0 (new model)
Four-door fixed head saloon.	£195 . 0 . 0 (reduced price)
Four-door de Luxe sliding head	£205 . 0 . 0 (reduced price)
Semi-sports two-seater	£182 . 10 . 0 (reduced price)

Backing the world's finest range of cars is a service unsurpassed in these islands. Every Morris dealer has been selected because he can offer a service that is fair and trustworthy.

TABLE BIRD TESTS.

Writing on this subject in the Weekly Irish Times, the Poultry Correspondent says:—

Just now supplies are plentiful, but, on the whole, the quality of table birds exposed for sale in Dublin is nothing to make a song about. The most that could be said for them is that they are moderately good, but very mixed as to quality and colour of flesh. The number of first-rate, white-fleshed, well-finished table chickens found is still very low in proportion to the number of yellow-fleshed, half-fed birds on offer. It is a pity that time and money should be spent in raising inferior quality table birds, when the same time, effort and money could be so much better invested in the correct type of birds. The trouble is, of course, that for the majority of poultry-keepers in this country the birds sold for table are merely surplus cockerels in the flock, regardless as to whether the breed is White Leghorn or Light Sussex. We are not yet table bird conscious, and much energy is being expended in breeding for record-breaking egg-producers at the cost of all-round utility.

It may be true in a sense that scientific table bird production belongs to the domain of the expert, but that does not rule out the average small poultry-keeper from turning out at least a small proportion of first-rate table birds regularly.

FOUNDER OF THE SOCIAL WEEK

ARTIST WEAVER WHO BECAME WRITER

FRANCE MOURNS DEATH OF MARIUS GONIN

MARIUS GONIN, who was the founder of one of the most far-reaching institutions of the times, the "Social Week," has just died at Lyons. He began life as an artist weaver and embroiderer in the silk industry, which is the principal industry of Lyons, but was impelled to become a journalist by reading the Papal Encyclical on the "Condition of Labour." He wrote vigorously, and devoted the greater portion of his new career to the spreading of Christian social doctrine. He soon became known as a writer, and became the director of a daily paper, Le Salut Public.

The great achievement of his life, however, was the foundation of the Semaines Sociales. Together, he and Henri Lorin, the sociologist, were struck with the idea of an annual assembly in some French town or city of men of good-will—directors of associations, labour leaders, writers, and theologians, in order to study together contemporary social problems, and, thus, to promote the diffusion of a Christian doctrine of social progress and the practical realisation of generous reforms.

These social weeks soon brought about results, and out of one of them grew the institution of the salaire familial—that is, the practice of supplementing the worker's wage in proportion to the number of his children. This custom, originally introduced by Catholics, has since become obligatory in France.

Seven years ago M. Gonin abandoned his daily journalism to devote himself exclusively to directing the Chronique Sociale de France, the monthly magazine, which serves as a bond between the participants in the Social Week, and which reviews contemporaneous problems in the light of the Christian conscience.

The obsequies took place in Lyons Cathedral in the presence of Catholics from every part of France, and with the Auxiliary Bishop presiding. The new Archbishop of Lyons, the Most Rev. Pierre Gerlier, former Bishop of Lourdes, who has not yet taken possession of his See, telegraphed from Lourdes that the death of Marius Gonin cast a shadow over the beginning of his episcopate.

WOMAN THREW HERSELF INTO RIVER

"I HAVE ONLY ONE LIFE TO LOSE"

Death from cardiac failure, caused by shock of immersion when she threw herself into the River Liffey whilst of unsound mind, was the verdict returned by the City Coroner, Dr. J. A. McErlean, at an inquest held on the body of Martha Brady (aged about 40), of Newmarket street, Dublin, at Steevens's Hospital yesterday.

Evidence was given by Bridget Byrne that on the previous night, about 8.15, she had left her lodgings at 48 Newmarket in company with Brady. After having a couple of drinks they went to the Phœnix Park, where they separated. She did not see Brady again until about one o'clock in the morning, when she met her at Victoria quay. Brady appeared to have drink taken, and Byrne urged her to go home. Brady said: "I have only one life to lose, and I'm going to lose that." She then walked over to the river wall and threw herself in.

"I could hear her splashing about in the water for a few minutes," said Bridget Byrne, "but I got so upset I could do nothing, and I went home."

Private Jerh. O'Brien, of the National Army, said that he heard an altercation between two women, one of whom said: "I'll throw myself in." He heard a splash, and then, with another man, he threw a lifebuoy to the woman, who was in the water near the river wall. The lifebuoy was near her, but, though they shouted to her, she made no attempt to catch hold of it. With the other man he then got a boat and rowed towards Watling Street Bridge, where they took the woman's body from the river.

Dr. H. Barber, house surgeon, Steevens's Hospital, said that the woman was dead when admitted. She was well nourished and healthy, though there was infiltration of the heart. Death was due to cardiac failure, caused by the shock of immersion in the water.

MORRIS DEALERS' ANNOUNCEMENTS

a steady, smooth ride, which gives a pleasant feeling of comfort and security.

THE NEW "TWELVE"

The big feature of the Morris range for the new season is, of course, the new Twelve. Here is a car built to provide fast, comfortable and safe travel for four adults, with sufficient room in the rear seat for a child in addition. With a top speed approaching 70 m.p.h. and a sound performance on lower gears it is more than capable of holding its own, even with cars of a higher horse-power. The design has been made to provide a first-class car of medium horse-power and low running costs.

The new "Twelve" overhead valve engine has already been proved over many miles, and the test engineers have reported on its absolute reliability and smooth running. The four-speed gearbox with improved synchro-mesh engagement for second, third and top gears, which are of the silent helical type, ensures quiet running and easy gear changes. The power unit is easily accessible, and its features include a floating oil intake, the Tecalemit external oil filter, balanced air intake pipe, thermostatic water control, and the Borg and Beck single plate dry clutch.

The interior of the car is well appointed and the luggage accommodation has received special attention. The inbuilt luggage container has a capacity of nearly 10 cubic feet with the lid closed. The spare wheel is carried at the rear of the car in a separate compartment, so that it is fully protected, but at the same time avoiding the necessity for disturbing the luggage when it is necessary to get at the spare.

In the "Fourteen-Six" there is a performance which would do credit to many a sports car. There is plenty of room in the car which, at the same time, presents a smart modern appearance without the slightest suggestion of ugliness.

SMART APPEARANCE

Incidentally, this matter of appearance does count quite a lot when choosing a car. The Morris designers, from the first, have realised the value of giving a car a smart, up-to-date appearance in keeping with its performance. At the same time they have succeeded in maintaining a dignified appearance about their products, and have eschewed the somewhat unbeautiful lines which some modern designers have adopted in their straining after a "speedy look." Dignity and performance can go together, this the Morris range proves conclusively.

The combined chassis and body construction, producing a double box section frame of great strength, has been incorporated in the design of the "Fourteen-Six," which also includes such attractive features as a spring steering wheel and inbuilt hydraulic jacks. The fitting of a five-valve radio set as standard equipment is yet another "refinement" which will be appreciated by the modern motorist.

Right through the range of cars assembled by Messrs. Brittain at Portobello the purchaser has the knowledge that the now famous Morris system of excess-testing has been employed. This means that the cars possess no feature which is of doubtful merit. Only details that have proved successful during protracted trials, and which have survived stringent tests far in excess of what would actually be required in service on the road, in the experimental department and on the production lines are incorporated. There is not the slightest doubt that the excess-testing does give the motorist an added feeling of security when driving a Morris car.

In the factory at Portobello about two hundred and fifty men are constantly employed on the production lines which run up and down the length of the works. Working on the assembly of the chassis and bodies these skilled men are turning out work of which they can well afford to be proud, while on a special balcony others are working on the upholstery, so that there need not be the slightest delay on the production lines. A checking system ensures that when a Morris car leaves the production line and goes out on its test run it is a really first-class engineering job.

To quote the words of the managing director of Messrs. Brittain's again: "The future policy of this organisation will remain, as heretofore—pride of product and the greatest value and service that is within our power to offer the public."

MADRAS CONGRESS

Preparations are already well advanced for the sixth provincial Eucharistic Congress at Madras, in the suburbs of which lies Mailapur, the far-famed Calmania of old, where the body of St. Thomas lies buried.

This Congress has been especially arranged by the Hierarchy in grateful commemoration of the golden jubilee of the establishment of the Indian Hierarchy. Within the past fifty years the Catholic Church in India has made remarkable progress. The number of dioceses has risen from 29 to 60, the Catholic population has increased from 1,600,000 to 4,000,000, the number of priests has doubled, there being now approximately 4,000, while the number of sisters has increased from 900 to ten times that number.

In Malabar, where Christianity is more at home than in the North, the Catholics are looking forward to the December celebrations at Madras, since it means to them a revival of their traditional pilgrimage to St. Thomas's tomb at Mailapur.

IN EASTERN SEAS

The Little Sunda Islands, that long chain which trails eastwards for several hundred miles off the end of Java, are again in the van of the Southern missions. Catholic priests, brothers and sisters had a striking success last year, registering a total of 22,520 baptisms, bringing the Catholic population up to 257,354. During the past quarter of a century missionaries of the Society of the Divine Word have built up a Catholic body of 300,000 in these islands, rightly called "the Pearl of the East Indian Missions."

Last year, the eastern end of the territory, comprising Dutch Timor and the adjacent isles, was cut off to form a separate mission, with a community of 40,000 Catholics. Of particular interest are the lay retreats which were held for the islanders during the past year. Forty-one courses of spiritual exercises were preached by the missionaries, and 4,783 Catholics took part, of which 2,234 were men.

DETAILS OF IRISH ASSEMBLED MODELS

AN ATTRACTIVE RANGE

One of the new 8 h.p. two-door Morris Saloons on the road near Dublin.

DURING the year 1937 the increase in the sales of Morris cars in the Irish Free State was greater than the increases in their sales in any other country in the world. A few days ago Mr. G. C. V. Brittain, managing director of Messrs. G. A. Brittain, Ltd., the assemblers of Morris cars for the Free State market, proudly made this announcement. To-day the new season's models in this famous range of cars are announced, and from the prices it will be observed that there are several important reductions.

These decreases in prices are an interesting feature—quite apart from the fact that they mean a lower capital expenditure for the purchaser. They reveal the fact that the progress made by the Morris designers and engineers and at the assembly works at Portobello, Dublin, has enabled the prices of Morris cars to be lowered despite the fact that the general tendency throughout the world is for an increase.

One can be assured, however, that whatever price reductions are made in the Morris range quality is never sacrificed for the sake of cutting a few pounds off the cost of a car. A glance at the improvements in the new season's models will quickly confirm this. Another important point is the fact that the workpeople at Portobello are not being subjected to economies—as a matter of fact Messrs. Brittain have just changed over to a 44-hour working week at increased rates of pay. The new rates were introduced as a tribute to the fine loyalty which the staff at Portobello has shown during the past year. They have helped Messrs. Brittain to build up a fine producing plant which, in July last, was producing Morris cars at the rate of 50 per week. During the past season no fewer than 1,450 Morris cars were produced by this firm for the Free State market.

ENGINE DESIGNS

In the new season's range of models there is an interesting departure from the usual Morris engine practice. Hitherto the Morris organisation has concentrated on side-valve engine designs. Now there has been a big change-over. All the cars in the new range, with the exception of the 8 h.p. model, are fitted with overhead valve engines.

In the 10 h.p., 12 h.p. and 14 h.p. models there is a new gearbox with synchro-mesh gears for second, third and top. The 12 h.p. is really a completely new car in virtually every detail.

Radiator shells are now painted instead of chromium-plated—a relief for the man who has to keep his own car clean. Steel, easy-to-clean, "artillery" wheels are another new feature. All cars, except the 8 h.p. models, have built-in jacks.

On the Morris Fourteen Saloon (Series III.)—the latest model—Crosley five-valve radio sets are fitted as part of the standard equipment, without extra charge.

Prices of the new models range as follows:—

8 h.p.	Two-door Saloon (fixed head)	£175
8 h.p.	Two-seater	£182 10s.
8 h.p.	Two-door Saloon (sliding head)	£197 10s.
8 h.p.	Four-door Saloon (fixed head)	£195
8 h.p.	Four-door Saloon (sliding head)	£205
10 h.p.	Saloon (fixed head)	£250
10 h.p.	Saloon (sliding head)	£265
12 h.p.	Saloon (sliding head)	£285
14 h.p.	Saloon (sliding head)	£325

The 10 h.p. model at £250 is designed for the popular market, which has proved itself so definitely in favour of the 8 h.p. model in the last series of Morris cars.

The prices of the light commercial vans which are assembled by Messrs. Brittain remain the same as last seasons—5 cwt., £155, and 10 cwt., £220. These are surprisingly roomy vans, which have proved admirably suitable for delivery work, as the number of them on the roads throughout the country will prove to even the most casual observer.

NEW COLOURS

A change in the finishing colours of the cars is also announced this season. Wings will no longer be finished in black, except in the case of the 8 h.p. model. They will be a darker shade of the colour chosen for the body of the car. A new grey and a new maroon are two of the shades which have been introduced for the new series, and it was interesting to see one of the new "Eights" finished in grey alongside a 1913 Morris at the Portobello works of Messrs. Brittain yesterday. It was a silent commentary on the remarkable progress which has been made in motor design since 1913.

The general specification of the 8 h.p. cars shows these models to have a 3ft. 9ins. track, and a wheelbase of 7ft. 6ins. The two-seater is obtainable in five different combinations of colours and upholstery, which, incidentally, is Karhyde—the car colours are black, blue, green, grey and maroon. Additional equipment includes a folding toughened Triplex glass windscreen, detachable sidescreens and an adjustable seat.

Five different colour combinations are at the selection of the prospective purchaser of the 8 h.p two-door saloon, and the additional equipment, on the sliding-head model, includes a folding luggage grid. Bucket-type front seats and a sliding driver's seat in both the two-door and four-door models add to the comfort of both the driver and the front-seat passenger.

The 10 h.p. cars have the new four-cylinder overhead valve engine, with a cubic capacity of 1,292 c.c. The connecting rods are of steel, with white metal big-end bearings of the full-ring type. The track is 4ft 2ins., and the wheelbase 8ft. 4ins. The semi-elliptic springs at the front and rear are controlled by Armstrong hydraulic shock absorbers.

With all Morris cars the driver will find that the suspension system gives the car

TRINITY COLLEGE NOTES

REPRESENTATIVES TO NEW SENATE

ESTABLISHMENT OF NEW HISTORICAL JOURNAL

By Our Correspondent.

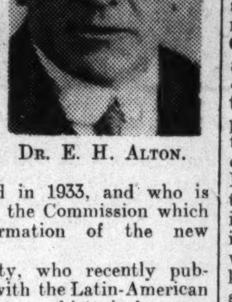

TERM begins on Friday next, and the Medical School winter session opens on the same day, while the first of the Entrances in Arts and Science and the first "batch" of Moderatorship examinations are also due to be held. The first section of Moderatorship examinations includes mathematics, modern languages, legal science, experimental science and natural science, while the examinations for Moderatorships in Celtic languages, philosophy, history and political science, and economics and political science, will not take place until October 11. Midway between these examinations comes the Classics Moderatorship, which is due to start on October 4.

The early part of the week is also well filled with examinations. On Monday the examination for the degree of B.A.I. and also the Intermediate Medical Examination, part 1, will take place, while on Thursday there is an examination in mechanics for medical students.

The Board holds its first Michaelmas Term meeting on Friday, October 1, and the last of the Board meetings of the term is on the 8th of December. All communications for the Board should reach the Registrar not later than 1 p.m. on the second day before the day of meeting.

UNIVERSITY SENATORS

The details of the procedure to be adopted for the election of University representatives to the new Senate will be of interest to many Trinity graduates. Dublin University will be entitled to three representatives, which is the same number as they formerly returned to Dail Eireann. It is early yet to speculate as to the probable candidates, and in any event no election can take place until well into next year. The Dublin University deputies in the last Dail Eireann were the present Provost, who represented the University since 1922, and Dr. E. H. Alton, who has had his seat in the House for the same period. The third representative was Dr. R. J. Rowlette, who was elected in 1933, and who is one of the members of the Commission which reported on the formation of the new Senate.

Dr. E. H. Alton.

Dr. James Auchmuty, who recently published a book dealing with the Latin-American Independence, has written a historical survey of Irish education which has been published by Messrs. Harrap and Co. in London and Messrs. Hodges, Figgis in Dublin. The book, which gives a brief survey of Irish educational history from the time of the Bardic and Gaelic schools up to the present day, has been placed on the course for the Higher Diploma in Education.

A NEW JOURNAL

Students of history will be interested to learn that the Board has made a grant for two years towards the establishment of a new journal to be known as "Irish Historical Studies." The new periodical, which will be the joint journal of the Irish Historical Society and the Ulster Society for Irish Historical Studies, is also receiving financial support from the National University and from Queen's University, Belfast. The journal will contain articles based on original research, as well as articles dealing with the scope and methods of teaching Irish history, and should be an invaluable aid to specialists, teachers in Universities and schools, and general readers.

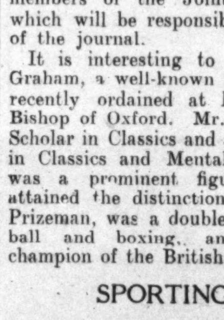

Dr. J. Auchmuty.

Miss A. K. Longfield, Dr. James Auchmuty, the Rev. Dr. N. D. Emerson and Dr. D. A. Chart, who are all Trinity graduates, are members of the Joint General Committee which will be responsible for the production of the journal.

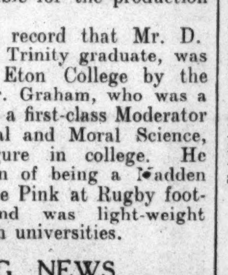

It is interesting to record that Mr. D. Graham, a well-known Trinity graduate, was recently ordained at Eton College by the Bishop of Oxford. Mr. Graham, who was a Scholar in Classics and a first-class Moderator in Classics and Mental and Moral Science, was a prominent figure in college. He attained the distinction of being a Madden Prizeman, was a double Pink at Rugby football and boxing, and was light-weight champion of the British universities.

SPORTING NEWS

The Rugby season in college is just beginning, and on Tuesday at five o'clock the Rugby Club will hold its annual general meeting. This afternoon Trinity will be represented in a seven a-side competition, and will play Blackrock in the "first round." The Trinity team is as follows:—C. V. Boyle,

Mr. J. R. Mahon.

Mr. C. V. Boyle.

D. W. Craigie, D. Campbell, E. M. Cochrane, R. B. Griffin, W. A. Pyke. C. V. Boyle, the Irish international, will captain the XV. in the coming year. He had bad luck in being unable to play for part of last season, but he should be a great source of strength to his side this season.

J. R. Mahon, of the Dublin University Golf Club, is to be congratulated on having reached the semi-final of the Irish Open Golf Championship. Mahon has been invaluable to the club during the past few years, and in 1936 he was successful in winning the individual golf championship of the Irish universities.

ST. MATTHIAS'S PARISH CHURCH

The annual Harvest Festival Services will be held in St. Matthias's Church to-morrow. The special music rendered by the choir will include the anthem, "The Heavens are Telling," and the solo by Mrs. Mabel Thrift, "With Verdure Clad." The Evening Service will be "Hewson in G." Miss Dorothy Penney will be at the organ. The preacher at both Morning and Evening Prayer will be the Ven. J. R. Willis, Archdeacon of Ferns. There will be a special Service for Young People at 3.30, at which the preacher will be the Rector. The offerings will be for St. Matthias's Widows' Home.

HARVEST FESTIVAL

Special Services will be held to-morrow at York Street Congregational Church, Dublin, in connection with the Harvest Thanksgiving Festival. The preacher will be the Rev. Alexander Cairns, M.A., Ph.D., the Secretary of the Congregational Union of Ireland. There will be special music at both Services.

On Monday evening there will be a Praise Service, led by a young people's choir. The address will be given by the Rev. Alexander Cairns, M.A., Ph.D., on "The Things Men Live By."

THE EASTERN CHURCH

CONCEPTION OF CHRISTIANITY

ADDRESS BY THE REV. G. FLOROVSKY

THE Archbishop of Dublin, Most Rev. Dr. Gregg, presided at a meeting of the Irish Branch of the Anglican and Eastern Churches Association, held in the C.M.S. Hall, 35 Molesworth street, Dublin, yesterday. An address was delivered by the Rev. G. Florovsky, Professor at the Russian Theological Academy in Paris, who was a delegate to the Edinburgh Conference on Faith and Order, recently held.

The Archbishop, introducing the speaker, said that the object before the Association was closer connection between the Anglican Church and the Eastern Church. There were as many as twelve Churches belonging to the Eastern or Orthodox Church, all ranking side by side, and without any one Church directing or controlling the others. Although the position of their Church had been defined with the greatest and most careful straightforwardness under the Reformation, their relations with the Eastern or Orthodox Church had been almost entirely ignored. He wanted to make plain that they had not separated from these ancient bodies of the Church, with a tradition unbroken back to the very earliest days, and it was to pursue investigation of the belief and practice of the Eastern Churches that that Association existed.

EASTERN IDEA

The Rev. Father Florovsky said that the main idea and main spirit, the whole conception of the Christianity of the Eastern Church, was the life and love of Christ. It was not so Eucharistic, not so imperialistic, not so intellectualistic as was sometimes supposed. The meaning of Christianity for them in the East was life, divine and eternal. For them Christianity did not mean only to hold convictions, to keep disciplined order in their lives, but it meant to be born new and again, to live in the new fellowship of the redeemed people of God. That was the essence of Christianity—and that aspect had always been emphasised, sometimes over-emphasised, in the Eastern Church. The Church was not so much an institution or society—it was best defined by the metaphor of St. Paul, "The Body of Christ." It was not so much a society as a living organism, the organism of life everlasting, and supernatural. It was sometimes said that Eastern Christianity was not practicable and was, perhaps, too æsthetical—that Eastern Christians were not so much in close touch with the realities of the world. It was true that the Eastern Church never tried to intervene in political or social affairs in the worldly manner. Sometimes it did interfere, and always to its own defeat and with great loss to the purity of Christian lives. It never pretended to be a political institution Because their Church was a supernatural organism they did not care so much about immediate worldly affairs—their efforts were concentrated on the inner life rather than on external conditions.

One thing they had to bear in mind was that the Eastern Church was a long-suffering Church, though the Russian Church was more fortunate and had escaped violent persecution until recently. In face of persecution from Mohammedans and Turks, they had preserved unbroken their ancient faith.

Sometimes, he said, they styled the Church of the West as the Church of Christ Suffering, and the Eastern Church the Church of Christ Risen. So it was that they observed Holy Saturday, that day when Christ was dead, as a great feast day—the day on which Christ was victorious. Good Friday was a day of silence and solemnity, but they did not think so much of the human sufferings of Christ, because for them His death was His victory.

IN RUSSIA

The lecturer said that there were to-day at least sixty million Orthodox Christians in Russia, and that in that great country the persecutions had been aimed, not at corruption in the Church, but against religion and against God. The result of the persecutions had been that many of them had to leave the country as emigrés or exiles, but there was some consolation to feel that in the West they had been brought into closer contact with the Western Church and were able in their Academy in Paris to prepare and train young priests. The fact, too, that in Paris to-day they had about 40,000 Russians of the Orthodox Church practising their religion would enable people in Western Europe to make closer contact with the Eastern Church and help forward the reunion movement.

On the motion of the Rev. W. C. G. Proctor, seconded by the Rev. Canon Green, a vote of thanks was passed to Father Florovsky.

Apologies for non-attendance were received from Archdeacon Willis, Lady Dunalley, Professor Hartford, Miss R. Sherlock, the Rev. B. L. Handy, the Rev. W. Grey, and Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Ruth.

VIENNA BOYS' CHOIR

MONDAY NIGHT'S PROGRAMME

The Mozart Boys' Choir of Vienna will begin a season of one week at the Mansion House, Dublin, on Monday night. In addition to the nightly performances there will be matinées on Wednesday and Saturday, when special reductions will be made for schoolchildren. The eighteen boys, with their conductor, Dr. Georg Gruber, left Vienna yesterday morning and will arrive in Dublin to-morrow. The programme for the first three nights will include the Mozart operetta, "Bastien and Bastienne," which will be presented in costume.

A selection of mediæval sacred music will include Motets by Giocanni Nascus and J. M. de Asula, three excerpts from the Passion music of J. L. de Victoria, and Mozart's "Laudate Dominum." On the secular side of the programme there will be a suite of eight folk songs—Swedish, Italian, Swiss, Austrian, Irish, Mexican, Spanish and German. Other numbers will be chosen from the works of modern Viennese composers, among them the ever-popular "Blue Danube" of Strauss. Booking is at the establishment of Messrs. Pigott and Co., Grafton street.

QUA IBOE MISSION JUBILEE

The Dublin friends of this Irish Mission are joining to commemorate in celebrating its Jubilee on Tuesday evening, 28th inst., in the Y.M.C.A., Dublin. It is fortunate that the founder of the Mission, Mr. S. A. Bill, who has laboured for fifty years in what was formerly known as "The White Man's Grave" is having a brief furlough, and he will be the principal speaker at the meeting on Tuesday evening.

When Mr. Bill first went to West Africa there was no Colony of Nigeria, and the British influence was confined to Lagos and Calabar on the Niger coast. He entered the Qua Iboe area single-handed, commencing work among the people of the Ibuno tribe at the end of 1887. By slow degrees the country was opened. Other tribes were entered, and the Mission has now extended its operations right up the Niger to the Igala division of Northern Nigeria. It has gone further, and has crossed the Benue to work among the Bassa people.

The Qua Iboe Mission has an unique record in the way in which the native Christians have supported the work, and helped to spread the Gospel.

We are confident that many friends of the mission in Dublin and district will embrace the opportunity of hearing Mr. Bill and Mr. R. L. McKeown, the Secretary of the Mission, on this occasion.

LEAVING CERTIFICATE EXAMINATIONS

We are informed that Michael Keeshan, of the Cistercian College, Roscrea, secured first place on the Leaving Certificate honours paper with 210 marks in the applied science section.

IRISHMAN'S DIARY

The Cable Ship : Padraig O Conaire's Books : 'Bus Delays in London : Dr. Myles Dillon : Fairway Foals

Professor Dillon

I understand that Dr. Myles Dillon has accepted his appointment as Professor of Celtic Philology in Wisconsin University for one year only. It is rumoured that this year a sum totalling about £3,000 has been set aside for his remuneration, and for the stocking of requisites connected with this new branch of Wisconsin University faculties.

The considerable sum amassed to keep this Irish department running has been collected solely among the American Irish, and the sponsors of the scheme informed the President of University College that, if the present sum were insufficient, further funds would be forthcoming to obtain a really good man. But America's gain is Ireland's loss; and it is to be hoped that University College will make a strong effort to tempt back to Dublin one of her most brilliant pupils. As matters stand, Dr. Dillon's loss is irreplaceable.

John Dillon's sons have certainly made names for themselves which are worthy of their father's reputation. Boasting two university professors, one of Ireland's most outstanding political personalities, and an eminent priest, the Dillons must be one of the best known families in Ireland to-day.

London 'Bus Delays

Apparently Dublin is not the only place where the 'buses take their time about coming. It is refreshing to hear that even London can show lapses.

A friend of mine living there had to write a complaint to the London Passenger Transport Board about the delays which occurred on the route by which he went home in the evening. According to the time table, a 'bus was due every two and a half minutes, but he often had to wait twenty minutes before one appeared. The Board sent him a courteous reply and promised to remedy matters.

There is practically no improvement and my friend still has to wait quite often. When he lived in Dublin he travelled by the Rathfarnham 'buses, and he says now that he does not mind the delays in London, because they remind him of home!

The Faraday

The Siemens cable-ship Faraday, which has been occupied in laying new multi-circuit submarine cables between Wales and the Irish Free State, was concerned in making earlier links in Anglo-Irish communications — between Nevin and Howth, and from Ballyhornan, County Down, to Port Erin, Isle of Man.

She has laid deep sea submarine cables in all parts of the world, and was engaged in repair work off the coast of Spain when the civil war broke out in that country. She is a specialist ship, and her cheerful personnel is composed of specialists, with the result that she is employed on important Post Office contracts, and can be trusted to perform a finished job of accurately laid, thoroughly tested cable, even in the roughest weather.

This is an important consideration in the present case, as the Irish Sea cables from Howth may, in their subsequent behaviour, influence experiments in under-sea telephonic communication in various parts of the world. From this nursery of practical experience, and that provided by the recently-laid Donaghadee-Port Kail (Scotland) cable, the whole submarine cable system of the world may be revolutionised.

Atlantic Cable-Laying

The Faraday presents features of novelty to sailor and landsman alike. A clean, efficient ship she is, with a wide sweep of main deck, from which operations can be conducted.

In her well-like holds, known in cable-ships as "tanks," hundreds of tons of cable lie coiled round a tall metal cone. The cable is drawn up a considerable height through apertures in the decks about nine feet in diameter, and led through metal sleeves and guides to either the bow or the stern; for at either end the big vessel is fitted with huge rollers, from which the cable is paid off into the sea.

When operating in the Atlantic the Faraday often supports cable extending several miles astern before it reaches the bottom of the ocean. Some hundreds of tons of cable are thus held up by the ship as she proceeds carefully, for fear of placing too great a strain upon the line which is to carry communications from the New World to the Old. Aboard is a large assortment of electrical apparatus for testing the cable in various ways as it is being laid on the ocean bed, so that a return to trace a fault is rendered unnecessary. The cable is raised by electrically-driven apparatus, which marks and measures it mile by mile automatically.

O Conaire's Works

If the following letter is true—and I cannot doubt that it is—then I was wrong:—

DEAR SIR,—It is unfortunate that in last Saturday's "Diary" it is erroneously stated that the works of Padraig O Conaire are "quite difficult to get." This is not at all the case, and the following works are obtainable through any bookseller:—

"Fear Feasa Mac Feasa"	2/6
"Deoraidheacht"	2/-
"Seacht mBuaidh an Eirighe Amach"	2/-
"Beal an Uaigneas"	2/-
"Siol Eabha"	1/6
"An Crann Geagach"	1/-
"Brian Og"	1/-
"Tri Truaighe na Sgealaidheachta"	9d.
"Sgealta Aniar"	6d.
"Cubhar na dTonn"	6d.
"Eachtrai Mora o n-ar Stair"	6d.
"Draoidheacht"	6d.
"An Chinneamhaint"	6d.

In the paragraph it is further suggested that there is a prejudice keeping O Conaire's works from being read in the schools. This is entirely at variance with the facts. The majority of the titles mentioned above are officially sanctioned for use in National Schools, and their wide use belies the suggestion of any such prejudice.

Perhaps you will be good enough to draw attention to the fact that practically all O Conaire's works are obtainable and so remove the impression created that the true genius of his writings is no longer being fully appreciated.—Yours very faithfully,

THE TALBOT PRESS, LIMITED.

Fairways

Mrs. Maher, whose Fairway colt topped the sales at Doncaster, in company with the Solario yearling, seems satisfied with the market.

She tells me that she has two Fairway foals. One of them, indeed, I have seen. That is the filly out of the grand old matron, Waffles, the dam of Manna and Sandwich. But that foal is not for the market. Money would not buy her, for she is to be retained, and, after a racing career, is intended to carry on her line at the paddocks.

Mrs. Maher's second Fairway foal is a colt out of Snowstorm, and, if not Snowstorm, then the dam must be Snow Maiden. In due course he will make his bow in the sale ring, and, if his sire is still unchallenged, his value will be considerable!

Other Richmonds

Talking about fashionable sires reminds me that by next year Fairway may be somewhat eclipsed. For there will be another Richmond in the field.

That will be Windsor Lad. His first crop of foals will then be yearlings, and there is no doubt that his stock—even his first foals—will have to be reckoned with. I hear that one of the nicest foals in England at the moment is by Windsor Lad, and the youngster is located at the Egerton House Stud.

Other stock that will have to be reckoned with also next year will be that of Bahram—the Aga Khan's triple crown winner, who went to the stud as a three-year-old. Should any of his yearlings find their way to the market interesting bids will certainly result.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

THE RIGHTS OF WOMEN

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—The National Council of Women of Ireland have forwarded to the League Assembly a telegram expressing appreciation of Mr. Hearne's draft resolution, which is in part as follows:—

"That the League should continue its study of the political and civil status of women with a view to securing the acceptance by as many States as possible the principle of sex equality in the matter of civil and political rights."

The matter has been adjourned to enable the delegates to study the documentary evidence before them.

We would like to point out that this documentary evidence has been largely supplied to the League by the International Alliance for Suffrage and Equal Citizenship and the International Council of Women. In 1935 a memorandum was submitted to the League which claimed that there should be no distinction based on sex in regard to nationality, and that women should have equal political rights, with eligibility to public offices. From the analysis of the position of women in forty-five countries, obtained through the National Councils of Women, approximately 150,000,000 women have obtained political rights and some 200 sit in various Parliaments of the world, a few also holding office as Ministers of State and a small number in the diplomatic services.

It is the claim of women's organisations that this limited experiment in the collaboration of women does not give an adequate opportunity of judging the real value of their possible contribution to modern problems—problems of childhood and youth, of motherhood, working conditions, unemployment and leisure; and last, but greatest of all, of international peace. They aim frankly at equal representation of men and women everywhere. Can either sex fight disease, poverty and vice alone, and is not the loss of women's full co-operation the reason for past failure?

The National Councils of Women consider that the data now before the League Assembly shows a steady advance (with some notable exceptions) towards equal status, and that the time is ready for international action, such as Mr. Hearne's resolution suggests, to secure an affirmation from the Assembly of the principle of political, civil and legal sex-equality and to obtain a Convention in conformity with these principles.—Yours, etc.,

LUCY O KINGSTON.
Hon. Secretary, National Council of Women of Ireland.

"THE BLIND ALLEY"

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Your leader on "The Blind Alley" in Ireland and its evils will be appreciated by all who are interested in social welfare work, as will your article upon the subject in to-day's issue dealing with the proposals submitted to the Government to eliminate, or at least to reduce, these evils.

May I make a correction in the latter? I was not the first, but the last, President of the Children's (Street Trading) Court, which was extinguished in 1927. I succeeded, on his election to the Dail, Dr. Myles Keogh, who, by his active interest in the lot of the juvenile street traders of our city and in the work of the court, had prepared the ground for the proposals for reform put forward by my association.—Yours, etc.,

FREDERICK W. RYAN.

CLOGHER DIOCESAN SYNOD

BISHOP'S VIEW OF DRINK EVIL

RELIGION IN THE SCHOOLS

"LAST year great expectations were aroused; fervent hopes were stimulated, and an anxious looking forward to improvement and peace was engendered in the minds of men. But, instead of all these hopes, progress towards peace and happiness, truth and justice, religion and piety have been boldly arrested, with the result that many peoples are in greater straits to-day, and their future prospects are heartrending in the extreme."

In these words, the Right Rev. Dr. James Macmanaway, Bishop of Clogher, reviewed the present world situation, when delivering his opening address at the annual Clogher Diocesan Synod in Clones, County Monaghan, yesterday.

"If the nations of the world," he went on, "would think more of God and less of their own aggrandisement, I feel that there would be less poverty, less want, fewer strikes and less talk of war. There would be more happiness, peace and prosperity in every country under heaven to-day."

In his opening remarks, the Bishop said that the most glorious event of the year had been the Coronation of their beloved King and Queen. Long might they live in peace, happiness and prosperity, and in the loving attachment of their devoted subjects.

Having referred to the losses sustained by the diocese during the year through death and to the various transfers of clergy that had taken place, Dr. Macmanaway dealt with the financial position of the diocese. The laity had acted with such promptitude and generosity, he said, that never in the history of the diocese had their financial tables stood so high.

FOREIGN MISSIONS

The subject of foreign missions was an ever-pressing one, and while they in that diocese were not doing so much as they might do, the past year had been an improvement on the previous one, which, in its turn, had exceeded the one before. The subject which each year claimed their most serious attention and thought was the Clogher Board of Religious Education. After the visitation of the sick, the training of the young was next in importance. The clergy, very naturally, attended to this work with the utmost concern, but parents, while they offered no hindrance, might have shown greater willingness to help and encourage the young people. He paid a tribute to the teachers, who, he said, were doing a great work for the children committed to their care, and were, incidentally, rendering a great help towards the stabilisation of their country. They were laying a foundation on which the children of to-day when they had left the home would continue to build for the honour and glory of God. The Bishop also expressed his admiration of the high standard of averages obtained in the recent religious examinations, when 3,162 children were examined.

The Church of Ireland Temperance Society carried on its work unobtrusively and had paid special attention to the instruction of the young, but, unfortunately, the contributions sent in had not been at all sufficient to enable the grants of former years to be made. From the daily Press it would seem that drunkenness was largely on the increase and, continued the bishop, "Parliament and people must recognise that a community which adds to its population of tottering drunkards at that rate (drinking and drunkenness in England and Scotland had been said to have increased from 30,000 in 1932 to 42,000 in 1935) is guilty of the grossest humbug in appealing to British youth for greater physical fitness." He hoped that the real manhood of the country would arise against this revival of strong drink.

DECREASING

Mr. M. E. Knight, of Clones, moving the adoption of the report of the Diocesan Council, said that it reflected the continued generosity of their people. It was fifty years last June since the diocese had been established as a separate entity, and during that period a great deal had been done for which they should be devoutly thankful. He hoped that as a result of it that they would enter upon another fifty years stimulated, encouraged and determined to maintain the old Church of Ireland and ensure that she occupied her rightful place in the country.

There were things in the County Monaghan portion of the diocese which had discouraged them and made them feel somewhat downhearted, but their Church, which had endured through the ages, would not suffer. The spirit that had animated them in the past would stimulate them to carry on the work and overcome all difficulties that might appear. In that section of the diocese inside the Free State their Church people in many parishes were decreasing in number.

"Let those of us who remain," said Mr. Knight, "determine to face the future with courage and confidence, and do everything that lies in our power to carry on the work of the Church."

The Rev. Canon E. W. McFarland, M.C., M.A., seconded, and the Bishop, in the course of further discussion, mentioned that during the past twelve years no fewer than 46 churches in the diocese had been renovated.

The report was adopted.

The Rev. Canon R. Tyner, B.D., in proposing the adoption of the report of the Diocesan Board of Religious Education, said that to exclude religious training, which had such an essential bearing on the highest aspect of the human being, was to deprive education of its noblest aspects. If education is to be complete and in keeping with its definition, then religious training must be included in the school curriculum on equal basis with other subjects.

During the undisputed dominance of the Roman Catholic Church in Europe, Canon Tyner continued, education was confined and subordinated to religious training. Music was taught in order that the Church services might be more properly rendered; art was cultivated for its contribution to Church adornment; philosophy was studied as a hand-maiden to theology, and arithmetic and astrology were used in fixing the Church festivals and calendar.

There followed a change, not only in education, but in men's outlook and belief. The growth of democracy two or three hundred years ago, with its attendant belief in the right of the individual, changed all secularisation of the school curriculum followed, and, unfortunately, added Canon Tyner, the world knows to-day the result, both in Europe and America. I believe that we can see a very happy indication that democracy in the present generation is beginning to realise the folly of the secularising policy in education.

RELIGION IN SCHOOLS

Canon Tyner said that there was no elementary or national school in the diocese in which religious instruction was not most efficiently imparted, but there were complaints from parents that in certain secondary schools the Bible was never opened, and religious instruction was not taught.

The Rev. Chancellor Dogg, M.A., said that they should make recommendations to the secondary schools to do their utmost to have regular religious instruction introduced.

The Rev. Richard Whitehead said that the leisured classes had done much for the country in the past, but now they were lacking in their support of the Sunday schools. Why did they not come forward with their education and their time to assist in this important work?

Canon Tyner said that they should approach, with the members of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, the heads of the secondary schools in the diocese in regard to religious instruction, and perhaps they would get a sympathetic and satisfactory response.

The Dean of Clogher (the Very Rev. H. MacManaway) said that he would like to make it clear that in both Portora Royal School and the Girls' Collegiate School at Enniskillen, religious instruction was as regularly and faithfully given as in any other school, primary or secondary, in the diocese.

The report was adopted.

The Rev. Canon W. J. Sirr, presenting the temperance report, said that last year the drink bill in Great Britain had increased by three million pounds, and in the Free State by £687,000. In Northern Ireland, while there had not been any appreciable increase, the drink bill amounted to some £3,000,000.

Mr. M. M. Wright said that there were apparently twenty-five parishes which had no sympathy with the temperance movement—or at least not sufficient sympathy to send a subscription on behalf of the work.

Canon Tyner thought that the sympathy of many people was being alienated by the intemperate language of some of the so-called friends of the movement.

Another clergyman said that in his parish gambling was on the increase, and he was getting no help from the parents to counteract it. Gambling, in his opinion, was about the worst feature of intemperance.

The Rev. Precentor John O'Connor, M.A., presenting the report of the Board of Missions, said that, despite the economic situation, the contributions to foreign missions from parishes in County Monaghan was 1s. 9d. per head, as compared with only 6½d. from the parishes in County Tyrone and 8d. from those in County Fermanagh.

The Rev. Chancellor Dagg said that the upward trend in subscriptions had continued, there being an increase of nearly £50 in the fund for the past year.

The resolution from the General Synod on the subject of mobility of clergy was received, and, on the motion of Major-General H. M. de F. Montgomery, C.B., seconded by Lieut.-Colonel R. Clifford, the matter was referred to the Diocesan Council for consideration and report.

The Bishop said that he had attended several meetings of the Mobility Commission in Dublin, and, though there had been a great deal of pious talk, not much had come of it. Unless there was a voluntary desire on the part of the clergy to change, he did not see that much could be done.

The following appointments were announced as a result of ballot vote:—

CALEDONIA AT FOYNES

CROSSED AT 175 MILES AN HOUR

The Imperial Airways' flying boat Caledonia completed her sixth Atlantic crossing yesterday, arriving at Foynes at 9.31 a.m. from Botwood, Newfoundland.

Her average speed was approximately 175 m.p.h., and her time 11 hours 38 minutes (she left Botwood at 9.53 the previous night), was only five minutes more than on her last return flight—the fastest recorded for the crossing in the present series of survey flights.

The Caledonia flew mainly at an altitude of between 12,000 and 13,000 feet.

Temperatures were low. At 4 a.m. the Caledonia wirelessed that the temperature was 12 deg. below freezing point. Towards the end of the flight the flying boat operated at lower heights than in earlier stages, and at 6 a.m., at just over 8,000 feet, reached a speed of over 180 m.p.h.

The fast time was due to the accuracy of the meteorological forecasts. These enabled Captain Wilcockson, who was in command, to fly at heights which gave him the advantage of improved weather and wind conditions.

IRISH VISCOUNT'S CAR

HAD PERMISSION TO DRIVE: FINED £10

A car belonging to Viscount Gormanston, which was reported missing, was mentioned at Cambridge yesterday, when Alexander Archibald Douglas Wolston Dixie, son of Sir Douglas Dixie, Bart., and a friend of Lord Gormanston, was fined £10 for driving the car without third party insurance, disqualified from driving for six months, and ordered to pay £1 16s. costs

Inspector Witham told the Court that he saw Dixie driving a car belonging to Lord Gormanston, which had been reported missing. He saw Lord Gormanston in the presence of Dixie, and Lord Gormanston said that Dixie had his permission to drive, and it was a misunderstanding about the parking of the car which had caused it to be reported missing.

Frederick Charles Gower, an insurance clerk, said that Lord Gormanston alone was covered to drive the car on the date of the offence.

Mr. Dixie gave evidence that he saw an inspector of the insurance company, who told him that he would be covered to drive the car. He honestly was of the opinion that he was covered to drive.

Mr. Dixie added that he was a half-commission man on the London Stock Exchange and an agent for several insurance companies.

It was stated that Dixie had a previous conviction for driving while under the influence of drink

There was a summons against Lord Gormanston, whose address was given as Sloane Gardens, London, for permitting the car to be used without there being in force in relation to the user a policy of insurance in respect of third-party risks.

The Chief Constable said that the summons had been returned unserved that morning from the Metropolitan Police. He asked for an adjournment.

Mr. Hall Clark, who represented Dixie, mentioned that Lord Gormanston had gone to Ireland

EXPLOSION AT A SCHOOL

TWO GIRLS INJURED

Two school girls were taken to hospital following an explosion in the gas heating apparatus at Whitecroft Road Council School, Bolton, yesterday

The children were going to their places for afternoon school when part of the chimney stack was blown away by the explosion. Flying débris crashed through the fanlight of one class-room, and Marjorie Howarth (12), of Birmingham street, and Mary Brooks, of Worcester street, Bolton, were injured. They were allowed to leave hospital after treatment.

Parents in the neighbourhood, alarmed by the thick cloud of yellow smoke, which drifted over the school after the explosion, hurried to get news of their children.

'PLANE FALLS INTO THE SEA

PILOT FOUND DEAD

After a Tiger Moth aeroplane was seen to crash into the sea off Shoreham, Sussex, yesterday, a motor boat went out and recovered the body of Thomas Tarrant, the pilot. Severe head injuries appeared to be the cause of death.

Amphibian 'planes were summoned and began to search with the Shoreham lifeboat for the 'plane.

Tarrant was flying solo. He was a member of the South Coast Flying Club and took the machine up ten minutes before the crash from Shoreham Municipal Airport.

DUCHESS TO TRAVEL 800 MILES

TO ATTEND DERRY COURT

From Our Correspondent.

DERRY, Friday.

The Duchess of Laurino, a dog fancier of international repute, will make 800 mile journey from Cornwall to be present in Londonderry Recorder's Court on Monday week to claim £50 damages for alleged misrepresentation and breach of warranty in the sale of a Pekingese pup.

The defendant is Mrs. Vida Shannon, wife of Mr. William Shannon, a Justice of the Peace, and well known Londonderry farmer and huntsman, who resides at Coshquin House, near the city.

Mr. C. A. Nicholson, who (instructed by Mr. G. Douglas Scott), will appear for the Duchess, yesterday asked the Londonderry Recorder to fix the case for Monday, October 4, and added: "The Duchess is coming all the way from Cornwall."

Mr. Andrew Robb will appear for Mrs. Shannon.

The Duchess, whose full title is Kathleen Phœbe Caracciolo, Duchess of Laurino, resides at Fenter-Wenson, St. Teath, Cornwall.

RIOT CHARGES AT LURGAN

SIX MEN DISCHARGED

From Our Correspondent.

LURGAN, Friday.

At the Crimes Court in Lurgan to-day, twenty-three men were charged with riotous conduct and unlawful assembly in August. Six police witnesses had previously been examined, and yesterday six more police gave evidence of the disturbances in the town on the return of an A.O. Hibernian party from a Clones meeting on the 15th August. Stone-throwing took place between rival parties and baton charges were made, several police being struck.

The Magistrate discharged six of the defendants on lack of evidence, and the remaining seventeen cases were adjourned to November 9th.

CHILD SWALLOWED STUD AND DIED

From Our Correspondent.

CLONAKILTY, Friday.

When Michael Fitzgerald, aged 14 months, younger child of Gerald Fitzgerald, a member of the teaching staff of Darrara Agricultural College, Clonakilty, swallowed a shirt stud, he choked and succumbed about noon to-day. He was rushed to Clonakilty Hospital, where Dr. J. G. Bennett applied artificial respiration without avail. The child's father had left home by train this morning, and was informed of the sad tidings by the stationmaster when the train stopped at Mourne Abbey. He rushed back immediately.

An Order-in-Council, setting aside 5,000,000 dollars (about £1,000,000) for the establishment of a Press Bureau to function under the Social Credit Board has been issued by the Provincial Government of Alberta, says Reuter.

OLD DUBLIN EXHIBITION

Almost a thousand people visited the Old Dublin Exhibition at Charlemont House, Parnell square, Dublin, yesterday. The hon, secretary (Mr. P. Meehan) is making arrangements to facilitate the attendance at the exhibition of senior students from schools and colleges in the city.

"This," said Mr. Meehan, "is exactly what we desired. We are glad to see that the teachers are encouraging their pupils to take an interest in the exhibition."

The first edition of the exhibition catalogue has been disposed of.

NEWS SUMMARY

IRELAND

Two hundred and fifty male and female workers have been thrown idle as the result of a fire which destroyed the Bridge boot factory in Clonmel early yesterday morning.—(Page 9.)

ABROAD

Tripartite discussions are taking place between the British, French and Italian Governments to deal with the problem of intervention in Spain. It is believed that Italian volunteers will be withdrawn. General Franco has dismissed Major Troncoso.—(Page 9.)

Over two hundred non-combatants were killed and five hundred wounded, most of the victims being little children, by a Japanese air raid on Hankow last evening. The Chinese claim their first big victory in the North, and the Japanese are advancing victoriously towards the Yellow River. —(Page 9.)

Signor Mussolini left Rome in a bullet-proof train yesterday on a visit to Germany. He will meet Herr Hitler in Munich to-day.—(Page 9.)

SPORTING

At Newbury yesterday Portway Lane won the Highclere Nursery Handicap.—(Page 13.)

FINANCIAL

London Stock Markets turned irregular yesterday, but declines were confined to moderate limits. Anglo-American issues, however, were very weak.—(Page 14.)

The Treasury bill rate was 10s. per cent., as compared with 9s. 11.18d. a week ago. Gold further advanced to 140s. 6½d. per ounce.—(Page 14.)

Dublin Market was busier. Home Funds held steady, and local issues were well maintained. Distillers Ord. rose 1s.—(Page 14.)

Four Bills

The first steps to "implement" the new Constitution were taken at Dail Eireann's one-day meeting last July. On that occasion four bills were introduced; and their text was circulated to members in the course of this week. Three of the bills establish machinery for the election of a President of Ireland, a Senate, and university representatives; the fourth continues the old procedure which guaranteed the Speaker of the Dail his seat in the next Dail. With the third and fourth bills no good citizen can quarrel. If he has any complaint against the provision for universities, it can be only with the fact that their representation is confined to the Upper, and weaker, House, while the stabilising of the Speaker's seat has proved itself a sound practice in the past, and deserves to be maintained. Concerning the two major bills, however, opinion already has differed with violence, and will differ even more bitterly, we fear, as time goes on. For ourselves, our chief concern is not for the President and his powers. Inasmuch as the innovation provides a supreme source of authority, it is desirable. The experience of every State has shown that a symbol of authority has tremendous value; and, with the banishment of the Crown from the Free State's Constitution, no such symbol has existed. Admittedly, the nation can do without it; laws are no less valid when they are signed by a Prime Minister than when they are signed by a Governor-General or a President; and the head of the State in a democratic country can possess no real power that is not allotted to him by Parliament. Yet it is well that there should be a symbol of the State. The Parliament is open to fierce criticism, even to abuse—which it too often deserves; being by nature divided, it cannot represent that unity which is supposed to belong to the State over and above the wranglings of political parties. Therein the head of the State, however he may be called, has a great part to fulfil. We ourselves should prefer the Crown, but, since the Crown is denied, we are glad that something takes its place.

The danger of the new office lies in its liability to abuse. It is easy to tell critics of the Constitution that every possible safeguard is supplied against a dictatorship by the President, but they are not reassured. Unquestionably an unscrupulous demagogue, with the connivance of an unscrupulous faction in the Dáil and Senate, could use the new Constitution to create a party dictatorship. Nevertheless, we are not alarmed. If anybody in Ireland wishes to make himself dictator, and can command a sufficient following to "get away with it," he will not be deterred by the most rigid Constitution that all the wit of all the lawyers can devise. Our country's safeguard does not lie in written Constitutions, but in the spirit wherewith its government is exercised. A well-drawn Constitution, it is true, places certain obstacles in the path of the aspiring dictator. So long as he is willing to pursue a "parliamentary" path, it keeps his ambition within bounds. Modern dictatorships, however, are brought into being, not by bills in Parliament, but by the gun and the castor oil bottle, and democracy was exposed to as much peril ten years ago as it is to-day. So long as the spirit of democracy remains strong in the Free State, we think that her people have little or nothing to fear. On the other hand, it is certain that the new régime will demand an extremely high standard of integrity among our public men. The election of a President on party lines will be a calamity of the first magnitude; for it instantly will banish that respect which is due from all citizens, whatever their political beliefs may be, to the symbol of the State. Even if the President's legal power is so completely invested by constitutional safeguards as to be, in practice, almost negligible, his moral authority will be, and ought to be, enormous, and the need of a President who will be acceptable to every group of citizens is self-evident.

We are less easy in mind about the new Senate. The Second Chamber, like the President, ought to be above and beyond party politics; but the mode of its election affords little doubt that party politics will dominate it. There is much to be said for the system of "panels," whereby agriculture, industry, the arts and learned professions, as well as the universities, will be ensured representation. On the other hand, it is too much to expect that the Dáil, riddled with factional feeling, will vote for the Senate otherwise than on a strictly party basis—with the result that every "panel" may be a miniature replica of the Dáil itself. A better scheme ought to have been devised, and would have been devised if the party spirit were not still so strong in this country. We merely can hope for the best. It may be that the asperities of partisanship will be softened during the next few years, and that the second or third Senate of the new dispensation will begin to approach the ideal of an impartial body of assessors; but we can expect little from the body which will be elected next year. Nevertheless, a bad Senate is better than no Senate at all, and the new Chamber, at least, will serve the useful purpose of holding up rash legislation. It has become too easy in latter years to rush laws through Dáil Eireann, on the ground that their imposition is urgent; and, in more cases than one, this haste has been attended by unhealthy results. Even if the new Senate merely echoes the Dáil, the very fact that bills must be presented to it before they can pass into law will have a sobering effect. The Senate will hold its destiny in its own hands. If the members can train themselves to take a detached view—such as is unknown in the Lower House—they will justify the Chamber's creation. Their task is to set a new standard for Irish politics.

"Parallelism of Conception"

This morning Signor Mussolini arrives in Munich for his third visit to Germany. The Irish adage that "the third time is the charmer" is surely right in this particular case, because the man who first visited Germany in the guise of a Socialist agitator is now the idolised leader of the anti-democratic forces in Europe. The man who once was hidden from the police by the people is now guarded from the people by the police. He travelled through the night in a train specially built for him by his own State railways; shielded by armoured plates and shutters, every yard of the route patrolled by armed men, and every station with its robot-like school-children arrayed to give him welcome. The one black spot in the scheme of mechanised festivity is the Italian Tyrol; there Il Duce will enter the Austrian train with the silence that marked the burial of Sir John Moore. Silence, however, is not all the story of the Brenner journey; the beautiful town of Innsbruck has been converted into an armed camp, in which the sport of spotting dangerous people is pursued with great vigour. So it was all the way to Munich, where the 5,000 Italian detectives had spotted all that was likely to mar a meeting which might resemble that of Blücher and Wellington. The thousands of Italian detectives were, of course, assiduously assisted by the tens of thousands of Germans who had been specially drafted into Munich for the safety of Duce and Fuehrer. Probably never before in the history of Europe have such elaborate precautions been taken to safeguard the lives of popular leaders. The streets of Munich are to be held by double lines of Storm Troopers on both sides; the soldiers standing back to back, one line facing the enthusiastically cheering Germans while the other keeps its eyes on the empty street. In Munich and in Berlin holidays have been decreed, and the workers have been ordered to assemble in their hordes to greet their masters. In the great Stadium the two dictators will address the largest meeting ever addressed by heads of States; and for the first time the executive head of one State will address a popular assemblage in another. The leaders will make their customary orations, the ordered cheering will follow its decreed course, both controlled by hundreds of thousands of armed men. Munich and Berlin will be all aglow and a-glitter with searchlights and gilded arches, banners and mottoes and flags, mystic emblems and the sombre glint of bayonet and rifle-barrel. The Leaders will take luncheon and tea and dinner in the palaces of Germany's old-time royalty; will toast each other and pledge undying friendship. For what? According to the egregious Signor Gayda, who forms part of the entourage of over fifty officials accompanying Il Duce, they will not talk about military alliances, or hatch any dark plot against the peace of the world; all they will do is to affirm their right to be respected and not suspected. The "parallelism of conception" between the two countries and régimes is to be demonstrated and cemented. If both Signor Mussolini and Herr Hitler are suspected, and if their countries are not receiving the respect which they believe to be their due, it would be an excellent exercise if a little while were given to an examination of the ways of European diplomacy during the past decade. The words and actions of the dictators have given Europe no opportunity to realise their pacific intentions; and if to-day they are suspected rather than respected they have only themselves to blame. There is no Government anywhere, as there probably was not at any time, without a basis in popular esteem, and those of Italy and Germany to-day are not exceptions. When the last Storm Trooper has goose-stepped past the platform in Berlin, and when the 2,400 musicians have slumped into tired silence, we shall know something more about the revolutions of the Rome-Berlin "axis." For a few days the working of minds will be obscured by the blare and blaze of the greatest display of regimented enthusiasm that Europe ever has known.

Fewer Italians

The slight increase recorded in the birth-rate in the Irish Free State shows that the methods of Fascism are not necessary to the encouragement of home-making and the rearing of children. Less satisfactory reports come from Italy. The official Notiziario Demografico for September gives current birth, death and marriage totals for the twelve chief Italian cities, and furnishes a sort of balance sheet in vital statistics. During the last year the number of marriages in Venice decreased, but there were increases in the eleven other cities. On the other hand, totals of births were lower in all the cities save Milan, Turin, Genoa and Florence. This indicates that the efforts of the State, by means of bounties and privileges, to increase marriages may succeed, but still the birth-rate sinks. Marriages become less fruitful. The fertility of the race weakens. Furthermore, the mortality figures are disquieting; for, while there have been fewer deaths in Trieste and Bari—and the figure has remained unchanged in Naples—the death-rate has increased in the nine cities which remain. Bari is the only city of the twelve in which the margin of births over deaths is larger than formerly—the only city in which the balance sheet is what the rulers of Italy, and all who care for the health of humanity, would wish. In five cities deaths have overtaken births; natural increment has been defeated. High mortality from the influenza epidemic is blamed for these more alarming cases. Taken together, the statistics must cause dismay among the Fascist chiefs for two reasons. The continued decline in Italian virility is grave enough; but it has asserted itself in defiance of all that has been done to check it, proving at once the loss of virility and the inutility of political remedies. Abyssinia has been torn from its native owners on the plea that Italy needs room for expansion; but Italy is ceasing to expand. Can it be that the very means used to organise the nation's strength are telling against it—that the very intensity of discipline, the high tempo of "dangerous living," exhaust, instead of stimulating, the natural energy of the people?

The Listener

An American lady by the name of Mason has turned what looked like a burdensome talent to full advantage. There was, in the old days, something about Miss Mason's face, or smile, or general demeanour which prompted friends and relatives to inform her without shyness of the acute sorrows of their past, and of the inescapable worries of their future. In the beginning Miss Mason fought doggedly and ran savagely to escape contact with her dependents; but round about 1922, when her maidenly agility was beginning to degenerate into a matronly repose, Miss Mason decided to call off her resistance. The pace was beginning to tell—and besides she found a certain satisfaction in the perfection of her listening. A great-aunt who had become possessed of the illusion that the Mafia were upon her trail could go the rounds of the Mason family, and find never a word of consolation—until she came to the listening daughter. As Miss Mason absorbed the latest report upon the Mafia's movements she considered herself in some way to be a finer and better person than anybody that she knew. Her own patience, sympathy and understanding were beautiful things; there was something almost ecclesiastical about her love of humanity with its woes. Miss Mason listened all through the depression of 1929; she was still listening in 1932 while prosperity hid nervously around the corner; and it was not until the beginning of this year that she began to think about herself. Do not condemn her out of hand. She had been listening for more than twenty years; and that is a test of endurance which would strain the receptivity of a dictaphone. Miss Mason determined to listen for money. She advertised: "Professional listener—any subject"—and the cash customers are pouring in. We suppose that they will continue to pour; but Miss Mason must not look forward to a swift and simple fortune. It will be hard work. While she was an amateur she always could plead an attack of neuralgia when faced with reminiscences of the Civil War; but now there will be no turning back. The Civil War must sound to her like a eulogy upon her own beauty. In the agonising days to come we hope that she will be comforted by the complete absence of all competition.

LONDON LETTER

HOW WILL ITALY HELP?

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
FRIDAY NIGHT.

While it is unlikely that definite decisions will be reached regarding the assistance Italy is to give in the Mediterranean patrol until after the meeting of Herr Hitler and Signor Mussolini in Germany, arrangements have been made for a meeting of British, French and Italian naval experts in Paris on Monday. It will be decided at this meeting whether Italy shall be invited to take over a portion of the Mediterranean in addition to the sphere already allotted to her, or whether she shall send a portion of her fleet to assist those of Britain and France. The view is held here that in all probability Italy will prefer to take the latter course, though she may wish to guard more particularly her possessions on the northern coast of Africa.

Non-Socialist Workmen

The Prime Minister is to be approached shortly by some representative Conservatives with a request that when the Government sets up committees or commissions of inquiry the personnel shall include a bona fide working man who is not a Socialist or a Labour trade union official, so that the non-Socialist wage-earner may be represented. It seems to be overlooked when appointments are made that there are millions of working-men who are not sympathetic to Socialism or to trade unions, and it is thought that the time has arrived when they should be considered. It is so frequently the custom to appoint a representative trade union man to these inquiries that a real working-man will be considered an innovation, but there are numbers of such men eminently qualified for the work.

Training of Nurses

The inquiry which the Ministry of Health is to set up to investigate the recruiting and training of nurses and their conditions of service is to be of comprehensive character, and special attention will be paid to the possibility of introducing shorter hours and improved accommodation. In many parts of the country there is a serious shortage of nurses, but, taking the country as a whole, the number of candidates shows no falling off. The shortage is due mainly to the expansion of the hospital system, which requires more nurses to enable it to be efficiently carried on. It is believed that shorter working hours and improved conditions would do much to encourage many more candidates of the right type to take up nursing, and the committee, which will include representatives of hospitals, local authorities, and the nursing and medical professions, is to make an early report on the subject.

The Bermondsey March

On Wednesday the Mayor and other local authorities of Bermondsey endeavoured to persuade the Home Secretary to ban a Fascist march which is to take place on Sunday, October 3, but without success, though it was promised that there would be ample precautions taken to avoid rioting or disturbance. Now it is announced that the Communists intend to hold a march through the district on Sunday next, and announce that the demonstration will be a very big one. It is a matter for speculation as to whether the local authorities will endeavour to get this procession banned, as it is possible that it may cause as much disorder as that predicted for the Fascist march; but the probability is that Bermondsey will do nothing. It is one of the Labour strongholds of London.

Slump in Wall Street

The renewed slump on the New York Stock Markets has been responsible for some excitement here, particularly when it became known that Mr. Morgenthau, the Secretary of the United States Treasury, is going to discuss the taxation of foreign investments with Sir Frederick Phillips, the Treasury representative, who is on a visit to Washington to talk over financial matters. It is said here that a prime motive for Mr. Morgenthau's action is to prevent United States speculators operating their own stocks from London, with a view to escaping restrictions imposed by Wall street. It is improbable, however, that the situation in New York will continue to have effect here, and already the markets are taking a brighter view.

A Welsh Abattoir

Renewed efforts are being made to carry out an idea for the establishment of a big abattoir in the West of England, Cardiff being the centre proposed on this occasion. A meeting was held at Cardiff this week of the Welsh Agricultural Committee, which was attended by a number of well-known agriculturists of the Principality, when plans were submitted for the handling of some 200,000 head of cattle per annum, with the employment of 500 men. Supplies of beasts would come from Wales and its adjacent countries, and, as Cardiff is a port licensed for the reception of Irish cattle, it is only reasonable to suppose that beasts from Ireland may be included when arrangements can be made. The scheme is a revival in an amended form of the project proposed in 1932 for the establishment of an abattoir on the Severn, which had to be abandoned owing to the high tariff imposed upon cattle imported from the Irish Free State.

Pure Milk

Mr. G. W. Rickards, M.P. for Skipton, stated to-day that after twelve years' laboratory research by a bacteriologist, whose name cannot be made known owing to medical etiquette, a germicide, which it is claimed will free milk from bacteria without pasteurisation, has been found. This germicide costs next to nothing, is made of vegetables, and is harmless. It has no smell or taste, and does not alter the colour of the milk, while a few drops are sufficient to make milk free of bacteria. Before the germicide can be used, however, the law will have to be changed; for it means adding something to milk contrary to the Food and Drugs Adulteration Act.

LITTLE CHILDREN BUTCHERED

Hankow Air Raid Kills and Maims Hundreds

MILITARY OBJECTIVES MISSED BY MILES

Heroic Rescue Work in Ruins of Darkened City

SIX Japanese bombing aeroplanes, escorted by three pursuit machines, roared over Hankow at 4.50 p.m. yesterday and dropped nine bombs.

At least two hundred people were killed and five hundred wounded, but as rescue work was hampered by the failure of the electricity supply, it is expected that the casualties are far heavier.

LITTLE CHILDREN OUTNUMBER THE ADULTS AMONG THE VICTIMS.

NO MILITARY POINTS HIT

The greatest havoc occurred in Wuchingmiao, the slum section of Hankow, where there are no military establishments. The arsenal, which, presumably, was the objective of the raid, is at least four miles distant, and there was not a soldier within miles of Wuchingmiao at the time.

Neither the arsenal nor any other military establishment was damaged by the raid.

STRONG BRITISH PROTEST

The British Government yesterday took action following the Japanese bombing of Canton, with its terrible loss of life. Further instructions are being sent to Sir Robert Craigie, the British Ambassador in Tokyo, to make strong representations to the Japanese Government concerning the bombing of non-military objectives, and expressing the horror felt in Great Britain at the deplorable loss of life among the civilian population which was caused by the bombardment.

Britain, it will be recalled, protested previously when the announcement was made that Nanking was to be bombarded. Representations were also made by America.

HEARTRENDING SCENES

FROM THE PRESS ASSOCIATION'S STAFF CORRESPONDENT.

HANKOW, Friday.

Hankow is in a ferment to-night following a Japanese bombing raid in which the casualties have so far been established at over two hundred killed and five hundred wounded.

Rescue work is continuing in the dark, the electricity supply having failed, and it is feared that daylight will show details paralleling the frightfulness of Nanking and Canton.

During two hours, while I watched homeric rescue work by police and students, I witnessed a most harrowing spectacle. This was at Wuchingmiao, the slum section of Hankow city, where there are no military establishments. In one period of ten minutes I stood at a street corner and saw 120 mangled bodies carried past. Some were moaning terribly; others were completely lifeless.

SLAUGHTER OF INNOCENTS

Particularly pathetic were stretchers, each bearing four or five children, the dead side by side with the dying, bleeding from gaping wounds and their little bodies completely naked.

Rescue work has been hampered by the failure of the electric light and a lamentable shortage of doctors and ambulance workers, although the few available are working heroically.

The streets in Wuchingmiao are only six feet wide. They are fringed by poor hovels, which collapsed like a pack of cards, burying their occupants and passers-by.

Pieces of bodies were strewn everywhere or buried in heaps by the rescuers. Ghastlier still was the sight of an occasional arm or leg waving feebly from beneath masonry which was too heavy to be moved without adequate apparatus.

KILLED IN THEIR HOMES

The student workers are splendid. Though many are weeping outright, they are sticking to their grim task.

The proportion of children killed seems inordinately large. This is presumably because they were indoors at the time of the raid. Their tiny bodies seem to outnumber those of the adults.

Ten thousand Chinese lived in the Wuchingmiao section, which is at the confluence of the Han River and the Yangtse.

At the time of the bombing there was no soldier within miles, and the arsenal, which was presumably the objective, is at least four miles distant.

One bomb narrowly missed the Wesleyan Mission Hospital, which is, fortunately, intact and caring for hundreds of wounded.

GIRLS' MASS HYSTERIA

The occupants of a nearby Chinese girls' school were seized with mass hysteria. The girls ran hither and thither, frightened out of their lives, shocked and demented by the terrible sights they had been forced to witness.

The thousands who are thronging the streets are behaving stoically enough, although the groans of the injured and the wails of the bereaved relatives are making the night hideous.

The Mayor, Mr. K. C. Wu, and other prominent Chinese officials are personally directing operations and preventing the wholesale confusion which would otherwise ensue.

Meanwhile Hankow has had its "bloodbath" with a vengeance, and even its immense distance from the coast has not saved it from the attentions of the Japanese raiders.

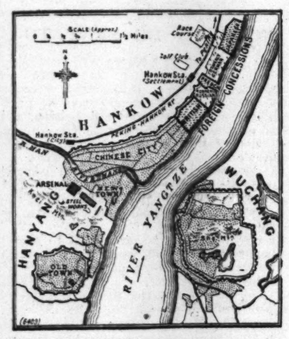

REFUGEE CAMP HIT

One of the four bombs which fell at Hanyang struck the refugee camp. Sixty persons were killed and a large number wounded. Separate rescue work is going on in this section.

Two bombs landed in the compound of the Roman Catholic Middle School at Wuchang, where, however, the only casualty was one student, who was incautiously watching the raiders from a window.

Most of the bombs which fell started fires which burned fiercely, while police and volunteers extricated the injured and the dead, amid the wailing of relatives.

The raiding force consisted of six Japanese bombers, escorted by three pursuit 'planes. They roared over the city at 4.50 p.m. and dropped nine bombs. Three of the bombs dropped in the Chinese city, four on the far side of the Han River, and two into the Yangtse River, barely two hundred yards from the British river gunboat Aphis.

MILITARY POINTS MISSED

Most of the casualties were non-combatants of the poorer classes.

There were no foreigners among the killed or wounded, the bombs having fallen mainly in the Chinese sections of the city.

Eight dwellinghouses were demolished on the Hankow side of the Yangtse. The damage to Wuchang, Hanyang, and other districts cannot as yet be ascertained.

It is reliably learned that neither the Hanyang Arsenal nor any other military establishment was affected by the raid.

The Three Cities, as they are called—Hankow, Hanyang, north of the Yangtse, and Wuchang, south of it—are about six hundred miles from the sea, and from time immemorial have been one of the greatest trading centres in China. Hankow is the district from which comes the best China tea. Wuchang is the provincial capital, and in imperial days ranked second only to the metropolitan provinces in importance as a Viceroyalty. There has for many years been an important arsenal at Hanyang, and there are the usual provincial barracks in Wuchang.

It was at Wuchang that the revolution broke out in 1911, which overthrew the Manchu dynasty.

The Foreign Concessions at Hankow stretch for over five miles along the north bank of the Yangtse down stream from the Chinese city, which they closely adjoin.

At the beginning of the war the entire Japanese population of the Japanese Concession was evacuated.

REFUGEES' FLIGHT FROM CANTON

FLOCKING TO NEAREST BRITISH COLONY

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

CANTON, Friday.

Thousands of refugees continue to leave Canton, following yesterday's heavy bombing, which caused thousands of casualties They are going to the neighbouring British colony of Hong Kong, and every available steamer is packed.

A single Japanese 'plane paid a visit at 4 a.m. and dropped four bombs well to the east of the city, which are not believed to have caused any damage. The "All clear" siren was sounded at 5.30 a.m.

The moral of both Cantonese and foreigners of Shameen continues to be excellent, although the next air raid is expected at any moment.

To-day the P.A Correspondent saw a number of Chinese chained hand-and leg being led through the streets. They are alleged to be spies It is established that certain persons on the ground signalled to Japanese 'planes last night indicating routes and objectives.

Foreigners endeavouring to-day to photograph scenes of yesterday's horror were politely asked by the police to refrain from so doing. Certain areas are now being closed to traffic while corpses and débris are being cleared away.

BIG CLONMEL FIRE

BOOT FACTORY DESTROYED

250 WORKERS THROWN OUT OF EMPLOYMENT

DAMAGE estimated at many thousands of pounds was caused by a fire, one of the worst in the town's history, which completely gutted the Bridge factory, one of Clonmel's two boot factories, in the early hours of yesterday morning.

THE DISCOVERY

Despite the efforts of Civic Guards, members of the Corporation Fire Brigade and civilian helpers, who battled for hours with the flames, the entire building and its contents, which included valuable machinery, were destroyed.

The outbreak, the origin of which is unknown, was discovered at about three o'clock by a stoker employed in the adjacent gas works A resident in a nearby house was awakened at 2.45 o'clock by the breaking of glass as the windows in the factory gave way under the intense heat.

FAMILIES LEAVE THEIR HOMES

The alarm was at once given, but by the time rescuers had dashed to the scene the fire, which was fanned by a strong wind, had spread from the office portion of the factory to the main building, and flames shot high into the air.

So intense had the heat become that it was found impossible to save the main building, and the rescuers' efforts were directed chiefly towards preventing the flames from spreading to adjacent houses in O'Connell terrace, which were so seriously threatened that most of the families living there left their homes. An effort was also made to save as much of the factory stock and machinery as possible, and portion of one building containing heavy machinery, and a quantity of stock in another building, were saved.

HEAVY DAMAGE

Mr. Leslie Cunnington, managing director of Leslie Cunnington, Ltd., proprietors of the factory, stated yesterday that in the absence of records which had been destroyed, it was impossible to estimate the exact amount of the damage, but he felt certain that the figure ran into many thousands of pounds.

The 250 male and female employés of the factory have been temporarily thrown out of employment, but Mr. Cunnington stated that it is hoped within the next few weeks to take on most of them in the Nelson factory, where the work carried on in the burned factory will be continued as soon as possible.

The Bridge factory began working operations under the auspices of Leslie Cunnington, Ltd., in March, 1935, and the official opening ceremony was performed by Mr. Sean Lemass, Minister for Industry and Commerce, on June 3rd of that year.

THE BUILDING STRIKE

ANOTHER CONFERENCE IN DUBLIN

There was a lengthy discussion yesterday at the Ministry of Industry and Commerce offices, Government Buildings, Dublin, between representatives of the Saorstát Eireann Federation of Building Trades Employers and the negotiating committee of the Building Trades Group, Dublin Trades Union Council.

The parties were invited to Government Buildings by Mr. Seán Lemass, Minister for Industry and Commerce. They arrived at 3 p.m., and left shortly after 6 p.m. No statement was issued at the conclusion of the sitting, but it is understood that there is no material change in the position. Developments, however, are expected next week.

In the meantime, several unions have arranged meetings of their members.

U.S. STEEL MAGNATE'S OPTIMISM

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

THE HAGUE, Friday.

"No new depression is coming; American business life is sound, and fluctuations on the commodity markets are only a consequence of speculations," said Mr. George Scott, President of the United States Steel Products Co., in an interview here.

Mr. Scott is visiting European countries with the object of increasing the United States steel exports to the continent.

He added that in view of the world shortage of steel the prospects for the industry were very favourable.

NINETEEN MORE SOVIET EXECUTIONS

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

MOSCOW, Friday.

Nineteen men have recently been executed at Vladivostok, following trial by the Military Collegium of the Supreme Court on charges of "wrecking and diversion on the Far East railroads, and preparing terrorist acts."

Five others have been sentenced to death in the Taborinsky region of the Ural Mountains on charges of agricultural wrecking and terrorism.

SCOTTISH FIRE DISASTER

SUBSCRIPTIONS INVITED

We shall be glad to receive and acknowledge in these columns subscriptions for the relief of distress among the relatives of the ten County Mayo youths lost in the Kirkintilloch barn fire.

DUBLIN CITY MANAGER

WRIT OF MANDAMUS FEARED

"I do not think the Government will issue a writ of mandamus against the Corporation for its failure to implement the decision of the Local Appointments Commission." This is the opinion of the Lord Mayor of Dublin (Alderman A. Byrne, T.D.) on the shelving until the next meeting of the Dublin Corporation of the appointment of a City Manager.

Alderman Byrne, who returned last night from England, added: "I am still hopeful that the Corporation will accept the recommendation of the Appointments Commissioners. Dublin has been very fortunate up to the present in its City Managers. Mr. G. J. Sherlock was a splendid worker, and Mr. J. P. Keane has intensified his work. I have no doubt that Mr. P. J. Hernon will follow in the footsteps of his predecessors."

The Lord Mayor said that he hoped that when the matter came up for discussion at the next ordinary meeting of the Corporation, there would be a full attendance of members. "You already know my opinions on the matter," he concluded.

Mr. I. J. Rice, Corporation Law Agent, has already told the Corporation members that failure to make the appointment forthwith would result in litigation, which might involve loss to the Corporation funds. If mandamus proceedings were taken by the Minister for Local Government and Public Health, councillors who voted against making the appointment would be made personal defendants, and would be liable for costs.

In his long experience he was of the opinion that the correspondence from the Local Government Department on the matter was the preliminary to mandamus proceedings.

MR. DE VALERA AT GENEVA

ANOTHER SPEECH ON PALESTINE

SPECIAL TELEGRAM.

GENEVA, Friday.

Mr. de Valera and other members of the Irish delegation attended to-night a dinner given by the Aga Khan, President of the Assembly, to the leading delegates.

Earlier to-day Mr. de Valera spoke on the resolution submitted by the Rapporteur of the Sixth Committee of Mandates and of Palestine.

Mr. de Valera said that in view of the speech he had made on the previous day he thought it right to say that he accepted the report on behalf of the Irish delegation.

It was made clear, he added, in the paragraph immediately preceding the draft resolution that the studies now being pursued were to be pursued without prejudice to the lines on which a solution was to be found.

He, therefore, strongly urged upon the competent authorities, and upon anybody that might be charged with the task of pursuing the study of a possibility of a solution, not to proceed as if a solution was to be found only on the lines of partition. He thought they should not regard as by any means decided that it was along such lines that a satisfactory solution could be found.

Mr. Hearn, who is the Rapporteur on the question of penitentiary reform, attended a meeting of the Fifth Committee to-day, while Mr. Warlock attended a meeting of the Second Committee, which dealt largely wfith communications.

Eighteen thousand applications for tickets for a mass meeting at Llandudno, which Mr. Eden will address on October 15, have already been received. It is likely to be one of the largest audiences a Cabinet Minister has had.

FURTHER SLUMP ON WALL STREET

MILLIONS OF SHARES CHANGE HANDS

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

NEW YORK, Friday.

A renewed heavy slump, in which the total issues lost from one to six dollars, with total sales nearly 2,500,000 shares, occurred on Wall street to-day. It was attributed to additional forced selling as a result of the earlier break.

Soon after mid-day the list went into a headlong decline, with incessant selling waves sweeping the market. Apart from the deflationary implications of the Anglo-American "hot money" discussions, the prevailing gloom was intensified by growing doubts regarding the American business outlook, and by reports that the leading Eastern railroads had dismissed thousands of employés, with the object of curtailing the drop in their revenue.

There was also talk of a large London account, involving holdings in United States Steel, Chrysler Motors and General Motors, having been taken over privately.

With liquidation apparent everywhere, the ticker fell three minutes behind as the end of the session approached, and the close itself was weak in the extreme.

DUCE LEAVES ROME TO VISIT FUEHRER

JOURNEY TO GERMANY IN BULLET-PROOF TRAIN

EXTRAORDINARY POLICE PRECAUTIONS

VIEWS ON TO-DAY'S MEETING

WHEN Signor Mussolini left Rome yesterday to meet Herr Hitler in Munich to-day his special electric train was bullet-proof, and when the Austrian frontier was reached gendarmes and detectives were posted every hundred yards along the lines

His departure from Rome at 12.30 was the signal for great cheering by crowds who had assembled to see him off, while aeroplanes flew overhead.

Throughout the night Munich was putting the final touches to the decoration of the city. Some 5,000 Italian plain clothes men were on duty in the streets yesterday, and people living along the route were warned not to admit strangers to their houses.

It is claimed that when Mussolini addresses in German 700,000 people in Berlin on Tuesday, he will be the first head of a State to address a mass meeting in another State.

In a significant article telephoned from Munich to his paper, Signor Gayda, often described as "Mussolini's mouthpiece," states:—"No military alliances will be drawn up or signed at Munich or Berlin, nor will the base be laid for any dark plot against the peace of Europe."

Endeavour I.: No News

After instructing their agents at the Azores to see if they could help in clearing up the mystery of the Endeavour I., Lloyds yesterday received this message from Horta, timed 1.55 p.m.:—"Endeavour I. Notwithstanding my utmost efforts, cannot obtain yet authentic information."

FROM "THE TIMES"

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT.)

BERLIN-ROME

The Times, in a leading article to-day, commenting on Mussolini's visit to Hitler, says:—The German recognition of Austrian independence must be placed to the credit side along with the Italian concession to Germany of a preponderant rôle in spheres of influence formerly disputed. Though the smaller may look for a "further modification of the Italian attitude" towards Austria, it is difficult to see how a radical disturbance of the present balance would be compatible with the poise of the "axis," and, however that may be it is impossible to believe that the destinies of Eastern and Central Europe can ultimately be dictated by the Western Powers whatever the influence they may hope and intend to exert in defence of a peaceful evolution. What at least may be counted undiluted gain up to the present is that the last two years have granted to the countries of farther Europe, not freedom from apprehension, perhaps, but freedom from turmoil and a greater stability than was theirs when the relations between Italy and Germany represented not an axis, but an intersection.

It is no more serviceable now than at any time to suppose that a "realist" view in diplomacy involves a pessimistic conviction that all the imaginable evils which may result from a given situation will in fact result. "We make ourselves miserable thinking of the things which do not happen" is a homely warning that has been too much neglected. With that warning in mind, observers of events within the past few weeks will be prepared to give them a reasoned weight. The hopeful turn which conversations in Rome and elsewhere have given to the Nyon arrangement, and the participation of Italy in the conference of naval experts which is exploring the possibilities of an enlarged Mediterranean patrol—these deserve a decided welcome. So, too, does the Italian assurance that no further reinforcements will be sent to Spain. No less acceptable is the evidence that Germany desires the relief of Mediterranean tension

The assertion that the authoritarian Powers are kindly operating against Bolshevism for the protection of vulnerable democracies will be prominent in the ritual of the next few days, and can be tolerantly put aside as necessary to the grand parade. It is more important that, though the dictatorships confess themselves bent upon the "re-shaping of Europe," they also proclaim again a "common will to peace" and the desire of "collaboration with other régimes." The recent Italian initiative undoubtedly opens the way to proof of that "common will," and no difference of régime, as this country is repeatedly affirmed, need impede understanding and collaboration with either or both of the totalitarian Powers.

Military honours were accorded to the Duce at the Rome station, and groups of Blackshirts, ex soldiers of the Great War, and representatives of the Fascist Party, were present to see him off.

Signor Mussolini travelled in the Prime Minister's train, composed of 11 coaches. With him was Count Ciano, Foreign Secretary; Signor Starace, Secretary of the Fascist Party; Signor Dino Alfieri, Minister for Press and Popular Culture, and Signor Sebastiani, his Secretary.

The Duce's suite also included a number of high police officials and functionaries from various Ministries.

Signor Mussolini left at 12.20. Numerous tricolour flags and banners decorated the station.

The Duce wore the uniform of a Commander-in-Chief of the Blackshirt Militia, and all his Ministers were in Blackshirt uniform.

MINISTERS SALUTE

At the moment of his departure he was saluted by the Ministers of Austria and Hungary. In the square outside the station companies of Blackshirts, Lancers and Infantry, rendered military honours.

No special precautions to guard the route to the station were noticeable. Crowds lined the streets and cheered vociferously. The station is quite close to a number of hotels, and groups of tourists filled the windows or tried to get as close as possible to the cordon in an effort to see the Duce. Aeroplanes roared overhead at the moment of the train's departure.

A pilot engine with one coach went on 50 minutes ahead of the Duce's train. The journey to the Austrian frontier is expected to take between eight and nine hours.

THE AUSTRIAN TYROL

Innsbruck, in the Austrian Tyrol, resembles a big army camp. Besides the Tyrolean forces, 2,000 gendarmes from other parts of Austria are there to help to carry out the safety precautions. All buildings along the line were searched by detectives, and a number of inhabitants were arrested as a "preventive measure."

This is the Duce's third visit to Germany. He was there as far back as 1908, when he visited a group of Italian workmen engaged on building a German railway at the village of Forbach, in the Black Forest. The second occasion was in 1922, when he visited the German Minister, Herr Wirch, in Berlin.

FAMILY SEES HIM OFF

Donna Rachele Mussolini, the Duce's wife, accompanied by his son, Romano, and his youngest daughter, Maria, were waiting at the station at Bologna to say farewell to Signor Mussolini during the seventeen minutes halt that his special train made.

The Duce's family had travelled from their country home at Rocca Caminate.

ARRIVAL AT FLORENCE

OLD GUARD FASCISTS' GREETING

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

FLORENCE, Friday.

The special bullet-proof train in which Signor Mussolini left Rome this morning arrived here at 4.30 and stopped only two minutes. It is expected to reach the Austrian frontier late to-night, and to arrive at Munich to-morrow morning.

A group of old Blackshirts of early days greeted the Duce on the platform, and Mussolini appeared at the window of his saloon car and saluted them.

The train is in regular radio contact with Rome, and has a special telephone plant permitting conversations during the wait at the stations with any point in Italy. Armed men are guarding every mile of the 500 miles between Rome and Munich, where Herr Hitler will welcome the Duce.

Signor Mussolini so far spent most of the time on the journey working in the saloon, which serves him as an office. At Florence a large sheaf of telegrams was handed in. The activity aboard the

A CITY OF COLOUR

WHERE THE DICTATORS MEET

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

MUNICH, Friday.

Ten thousand men are working overtime to-night putting the finishing touches to the decorations which will transform Munich into a city of colour for Mussolini's meeting with Hitler to-morrow. German and Italian flags, streamers of many colours, columns surmounted by gilded eagles and Nazi and Fascist emblems are everywhere.

The rain of the last two days has now stopped, and a fine day is forecast for the meeting of the Dictators. "Hitler's usual luck," people say.

This evening the streets are packed with men in uniform, including 35,000 Black Guards, who will line the route two deep for the biggest organised reception in German history. There are large numbers of Italian plain clothes men on duty—some estimates put them at 5,000.

HOUSEHOLDERS WARNED

Residents along the route have been warned not to admit visitors to their houses to-morrow, in the interests of safety. The Duce's special train is expected about 10 a.m.

One of the precautionary measures taken to protect the Duce is the stopping of all motor cars on roads leading to Munich. Some of them were held up and searched three to four times before they reached the Bavarian capital.

The congestion in Munich is so great that rooms in the hospitals have had to be vacated, in order to accommodate Nazi party officials.

In the Prince Karl Palace, where Signor Mussolini will stay, paintings by Rubens and Lembach, a well-known German painter, have been hung, and in the Duce's dining-room is a huge symbolic painting, entitled "Germania and Italia."

MEANING OF THE MEETING

"NO ALLIANCES," SAYS SIGNOR GAYDA

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

ROME, Friday.

"It will be as well to make it plain at once that no military alliances will be drawn up or signed at Munich or Berlin, nor will the base be laid for any dark plot against the peace of Europe," says Signor Gayda, in a leading article in the Giornale d'Italia, on the forthcoming meeting between the Duce and Herr Hitler.

He adds: "It may be stated that the frequent repeated confidential conversations between the Duce and the Fuehrer will end without any new protocol, and, perhaps, even without any special communique."

NO MENACE TO EUROPE

The meeting between the two dictators, he states, holds no menace, but, rather on the contrary, opens the possibility of a wider European collaboration.

In the article which was telephoned from Munich Signor Gayda also asks: "When will democratic Europe free itself of its chronic sins of political jealousy and sectarian feeling? It should be understood that Germany and Italy are two great nations, two great Powers capable of comparison with any other Powers in Europe.

"The importance of to-morrow's meeting may be measured by the stature of the men who form it. The spirit of the meeting will be revealed to the world in the two toasts which they will make and the two speeches they will deliver in the Berlin stadium."

VIEW HELD IN ROME

Signor Virginio Gayda's leading article in the Giornale d'Italia is considered in political circles in Rome to have given a clear indication of the prospects of the meeting between the Duce and Herr Hitler. It is a confirmation of the powerful association of the two dictator-governed nations.

Signor Gayda's statement, "no military alliances will be drawn up or signed," is considered as very significant, as is also a statement that the real purpose of the meeting will be revealed in the toasts and speeches which the two dictators will make.

The characteristic note of Signor Mussolini's departure to-day was the stressing of the Fascist aspect. It was Mussolini, the Duce of Fascism, going to meet Hitler, the Fuehrer of Nazism.

WHAT BERLIN THINKS

GERMAN-ITALIAN RELATIONS

BERLIN, Friday.

Speculation in the foreign Press that the impending Anglo-French-Italian discussions on the control in the Mediterranean might lead to a new political constellation is misplaced, according to the officially inspired Diplomatische Korrespondenz.

The writer declares: "Those who have studied the growth and the aims of Fascism, as well as National Socialism, must have recognised that the development of the two world philosophies and the meeting of their two leaders is not at all surprising.

"Times are past when these two countries could be played off against one another by international diplomacy or could be regarded as objects of foreign politics. The meeting of the two leaders is not only a milestone in the development of the two peoples and their friendly relations, but it can also be a favourable starting-point for the relations of all European States. The shaping of German-Italian relations may, in addition, have the effect of giving an example for all other nations which are striving for the establishment of a true peace."

MISSING WHITE GENERALS

MYSTERIOUS SOVIET SHIP

MOTOR VAN'S DASH TO QUAYSIDE

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

PARIS, Friday.

AN explanation of the "clue" of the motor van which arrived at Le Havre last night just before a Soviet ship sailed for Leningrad has been supplied by the Soviet Embassy here. It is stated that it has nothing to do with the disappearance of the two White Russian generals.

The Embassy itself reported the movements of the van, which bore a "C.D." (Diplomatic Corps) number plate, to the police. They state that there were four, and not three, passengers in the van—the Soviet Vice-Consul, the commercial representative, an employé of the Embassy, and the chauffeur. The first two boarded the Soviet steamer, Maryo Ulyanova, which was bound for Leningrad.

The ship had arrived at Le Havre twenty-five hours late, and took aboard 140 passengers, most of them Russians who had been fighting in Spain, as well as a certain number of visitors to the Paris Exhibition.

GENERAL'S WIFE'S STORY

Madame Skobline, the wife of one of the missing White Russian Generals, who was detained by police to-day, has given her version of her movements since the time of the disappearance of her husband.

The police, it is understood, are inclined to accept her explanation. She was found in the Russian Ex-Service Men's Club this morning.

"When I received the news of my husband's disappearance," she said, "I felt so unwell that I decided that what I wanted was to see my doctor, M. Tchekonoff. He was not in, so I decided to return that evening. I wandered about the streets of Paris, and then returned, when I found my doctor's wife, whom I asked to put me up. She said she could not do so, so I went to some friends named Raigorsky, since I did not wish to return by myself to my hotel. This morning Mme. Raigorsky accompanied me to the club in the Rue de la Faisanderie in the hope that I should receive news of my husband—which, alas, I was not able to do."

SLIGO MAN KILLED IN CRASH

HEAD STRUCK MIRROR IN CAR

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

SLIGO, Friday.

Much sympathy is felt in Sligo for Mr. Patrick Kearns, ex-R.I.C. sergeant, on the death of his eldest son, Dr. Joseph Kearns (39), who was killed in a motor accident at Gilberdyke, near Hull, on Tuesday.

Dr. Kearns, who was on the medical staff of Ipswich Sanatorium, was driving third in a line of four cars when the rear car collided with him as he was stationary. He was thrown forward, his head striking the mirror, and he died shortly afterwards.

A pathologist stated at the inquest that Dr. Kearns was paralysed after the accident, and died from fracture of the dorsal vertibræ. A verdict of accidential death was recorded.

LONE MAN BURNED TO DEATH

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

MANORHAMILTON, Friday.

Francis McDermott, aged 53, was burned to death in his cottage at Lacson, Glenfarne, this morning.

Neighbours found the cottage ablaze shortly after 7 o'clock, and nothing could be done until the house was burned out.

McDermott was then found burned on his bedroom floor. He lived alone.

THE MAYOR OF CAPETOWN

BRINGS GREETINGS TO BELFAST

SPECIAL MEETING OF CORPORATION

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

BELFAST, Friday.

A SPECIAL meeting of the Belfast Corporation was held this afternoon to receive greetings from the Mayor of Capetown, and to return the greetings.

The Lord Mayor said that they were highly honoured by having with them the Mayor and the Mayoress of Capetown. The previous day he had had the privilege, on behalf of the Council and citizens, of extending to the Mayor and the Mayoress hearty greetings and a good welcome to the city. The Mayoress had launched the largest ship built for the Union Castle Line, and it was hoped that it would bring the great Dominion of South Africa and the City of Belfast closer together.

The Mayor of Capetown, Councillor Low, who was cordially received, expressed his personal sense of gratitude to the Lord Mayor for having called that meeting at such short notice to permit him to present in person a resolution which was passed by his Council prior to his departure. It was exceedingly pleasant for him to have that opportunity of meeting the members of the Council, who, like himself, were engaged in the work of promoting the interests of local authorities.

CAPETOWN GREETING

Mr. Low then read the resolution passed in the City Hall, Capetown, on Tuesday, August 31. The resolution was as follows:—"That the Council of the City of Capetown do extend civic greetings to the ancient and historic City of Belfast on the occasion of the launching of the Capetown Castle at that city on Thursday, 23rd September, 1937. That the Council do further convey the earnest hope that Belfast may continue to enjoy increasing and abundant prosperity, and that the endeavours of its Council to promote the welfare and happiness of its citizens may be fully realised; and further, that the Council also congratulate Belfast on its remarkable progress and development as a port, and the extension of its shipbuilding activities of which it had just cause for pride as the city in which have been long established those famous yards from which many of the great trans-Atlantic liners have been launched."

BELFAST'S REPLY

The Lord Mayor of Belfast then moved a resolution acknowledging the greeting. The resolution stated: "The Council acknowledges with pleasure and gratification the civic greetings borne by the Mayor from the Council of the City of Capetown, and hereby request His Worship to tender to his Council the good wishes and friendship of the citizens of Belfast. The Council are proud of the close association between Northern Ireland and the Union of South Africa, and earnestly hope that the ties between the two countries may be still further strengthened by mutual commerce and personal intercourse."

The Lord Mayor said that it was a unique occasion for the City of Belfast.

OBITUARY

MR. T. R. HARRINGTON

Mr. Timothy R. Harrington, a director of Independent Newspapers, Ltd., and a former editor of the Irish Independent, died yesterday at his residence, St. Finbarr's, Ailesbury road, Ballsbridge, Dublin. He entered journalism forty years ago on the staff of the Cork Herald, subsequently coming to Dublin as chief reporter of the old Daily Nation. Afterwards he acted in a similar capacity on the Daily Independent. When the Irish Independent was started as a halfpenny newspaper Mr. Harrington was appointed editor, a position which he occupied until August, 1931, when he had had twenty-seven years' service in the editorial chair. Mr. Harrington's connection with Independent Newspapers did not cease with his retirement from the position of editor of the Irish Independent, for some eighteen months previously he had been made a director of that newspaper, and up to the time of his last illness he continued to take a keen interest in it. As a director, his long experience of working journalism in many parts of the country, and his intimate practical knowledge of the Irish Independent, proved of great assistance to the board. He had a fine sense of the value of news, and was an admirable organiser. The regard in which he was held by members of the staff was demonstrated shortly before he vacated the editorial chair, the members of all staffs at Independent House uniting in making him a presentation. Mr. Harrington was a native of Castletown-berehaven. He leaves a widow and seven children—four sons: Dr. John Harrington, Belfast; Lieutenant W. B. Harrington, of the Free State Army Medical Services; Mr. Kevin A. Harrington, B.D.S., Dublin; Flight Lieutenant Brendan Harrington, R.A.F. Medical Services; and three daughters, the Misses Eileen, Madeline and Evelyn Harrington. Mr. Harrington's remains were removed from his late residence to the Star of the Sea Church, Sandymount, yesterday. The funeral, which is to be strictly private, will take place to Glasnevin this morning after Requiem Mass at the church.

MR. T. H. DYER

The death occurred early yesterday morning of Mr. Thomas Henry Dyer, who had been a director of Walpole's (Ireland), Ltd., since its incorporation five years ago. He had a serious illness two months ago and he never really recovered from it, so that his death was not unexpected. Mr. Dyer had been with Messrs. Walpole Bros. in Ireland for the last twenty-five years, and, before coming to this country, he had been with Walpole Brothers, London. He was a man of bright disposition, and was well-known and popular in the trade in Dublin. He was a member of a number of golf clubs, and he also took a great interest in chess. Gardening, however, was his principal hobby, and he had a most attractive garden at his home at Rathmore, Bray. Mr. Dyer was about sixty years of age. He leaves a wife, son, and two daughters.

JAPAN "JUSTIFIES" THE RAIDS

RECALLS THE ISSUE OF WARNINGS

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

SHANGHAI, Friday.

The Japanese Navy spokesman, in a statement here to-day, said that complaints abroad that many non-combatants had been killed in the bombing of Nanking ignored the fact that warnings had been issued.

The spokesman claimed that only military objectives had been attacked. He declared that the Japanese Navy was "quite satisfied" with the results of the bombing, which was actuated by only one thought—"to end hostilities as soon as possible."

A tacit admission that 40,000 Japanese troops had now landed in the Shanghai area was made by the Japanese Army spokesman to-day when questioned about Chinese reports to this effect. "More will come," he declared, adding that the Chinese were also increasing their forces.

A Japanese spokesman here to-day announced that there had been 500 cases of cholera among Japanese troops at Paoshan, on the Yangtse estuary near Shanghai. Of these cases 200 had proved fatal, but the peak of the epidemic had now passed.

The Japanese Navy has warned ships to beware of Chinese mines at the mouth of the Yangtse River.

It is stated that the 5,268-ton Japanese liner Nagasaki Maru has sighted one mine off the Sungmin Island.

CHINESE PREMIER'S STATEMENT

UNDAUNTED BY JAPAN'S "BARBARISM"

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

NANKING, Friday.

Strong references to "Japanese barbarism," which, he said, would only induce the Chinese to longer resistance, were made by the Chinese Premier and Generalissimo Marshal Chiang Kai-shek in an interview with foreign Pressmen here to-day.

"Japanese bombings of Nanking," he said, "will not affect the military situation, but only give the Chinese populace and also the people of the world a fuller realisation of Japanese barbarism."

Looking fit and cheerful, the Premier sat beside his wife, who acted as interpreter. Madame Chiang Kai-shek wore a plain black Chinese dress, while the Generalissimo was in brown serge uniform with black shoes.

The resistance of the Chinese would continue so long as Japanese aggresssion continued, the Premier declared. He expressed the opinion that the present attitude of the United States was not "the real American attitude." He was convinced that the American people and Government would always uphold justice, law and order, and, bearing in mind the long history of Sino-American friendship, would give China sympathy and support for her struggle against Japanese aggression.

BIG CHINESE VICTORY IN THE NORTH

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

NANKING, Friday.

Chinese forces have scored their first big victory in North Shansi, inflicting heavy casualties on the Japanese Kwantung army, according to telegrams received at the headquarters here of Marshal Chiang Kai-shek.

It is claimed that after severe hand-to-hand fighting 5,000 Japanese soldiers were killed and 2,000 taken prisoner.

News of the reported Chinese victory has been received with much satisfaction at Nanking, where it has relieved the anxiety felt hitherto in Chinese circles concerning the military situation in North Shansi, following the fall of Kalgan, Hankow and Tatung.

JAPAN'S ADVANCE TO THE YELLOW RIVER

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

PEIPING, Friday.

The Japanese military spokesman here claimed to-day that the Chinese garrison at Paotingfu was virtually annihilated in the capture of this big military centre eighty miles south of Peiping.

The garrison consisted of a division of the Chinese 52nd Army, described as one of Nanking's best units.

The capture of Paotingfu, which followed an all-night assault, completes the first major stage of the Japanese drive towards the Yellow River.

Although it is stated that the majority of the civilian population of Paotingfu had fled before the battle, very acute anxiety is felt for the safety of a party of American men and women missionaries, including the septuagenarian, Dr. Maud Mackey.

U.S. FLEET TO REMAIN IN CHINESE WATERS

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

WASHINGTON, Friday.

Vice-Admiral Yarnell, Commander-in-Chief of the United States Asiatic Fleet, has radioed orders from his flagship Augusta to the other vessels of the squadron that the Asiatic Fleet is to remain in Chinese waters "as long as the present controversy between China and Japan exists."

This was revealed to-day in a statement issued by the Navy Department here. The signal was sent out on Wednesday, the day on which the United States protested to Japan. Plain language was used instead of code, so that the meaning of the signal should not be lost on any Japanese wireless stations that might have been listening in.

The statement added that the United States Navy's policy of maintaining warships at ports where they were needed for the protection of American citizens "will continue in full force even after our nationals have been warned to leave China and after an opportunity to leave has been given."

"Most of the American citizens now in China," the statement continued, "are engaged in business or professions which are their only means of livelihood. These persons are unwilling to leave until their businesses have been destroyed or they are forced to leave due to actual physical danger.

"Until such time comes our naval forces cannot be withdrawn without failure in our duty and without bringing great discredit on the United States Navy."

Sir Colville Smith, who for twenty years has been Grand Secretary of the United Grand Lodge of English Freemasons, has resigned on account of ill-health. Before becoming Grand Secretary he was for a number of years secretary of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution.

RESTORED TO THE SEA

SHIP ASHORE SIX MONTHS

REFLOATED BY NOVEL METHOD

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

DROGHEDA, Friday.

THE Danish motor vessel Asnaes, after lying on Termonfeckin Strand, near Drogheda, for six months, was refloated to-day.

The vessel was driven ashore during a snowstorm on March 11.

In preparation for the high tide a salvage crew from the Liverpool and Glasgow Salvage Association had been working night and day for 72 hours removing sand from about the ship. A huge excavator was employed to dig a large trench, the whole length of the vessel, and into this trench the ship was moved by means of a list. The trench was 340 feet long, and was dredged in stages seawards.

When the incoming tide filled this trench the ship's engines were set in motion and she was successfully refloated.

The vessel was then berthed in Drogheda port, where it will remain until next week. During her imprisonment on Termonfeckin Strand the vessel was completely repainted. The Asnaes is the property of Olaf Svendesen, of Copenhagen.

RELEASED!

Captain A. P. Ankensen, master of the vessel, who had remained in charge of the ship with his crew of seven since March last, said on arriving in Drogheda port: "I am glad to be here, and I am pleased to be released from my imprisonment on Termonfeckin beach."

Captain Ankensen has had a very adventurous career, having been shipwrecked on three occasions. At the age of 16 he was shipwrecked on a Danish barque at Croix Island, in the Bay of Biscay; in 1897 he was one of the crew of the British full-rigged ship, Zuleika, of Leith, Scotland, which was shipwrecked at Pallasdene Bay, New Zealand, when twelve of the crew were lost; and he had another thrilling experience when third mate of the Norge, a Scandinavian-American liner, which was lost with 625 passengers and crew at Rockhall, he being one of the few survivors.

SECOND SHIP REFLOATED

The steam collier Firethorn, which went aground in the River Boyne on Wednesday night, was refloated on the spring tide at 2 a.m. this morning, and safely berthed in the port. The vessel had a cargo of 310 tons of coal, and it was found necessary to lighten the ship by throwing twenty or thirty tons of coal overboard. The vessel, which is the property of Messrs. Coe and Co., had come from Birkenhead.

When the ship's own operations failed to refloat her, the Drogheda Harbour Commissioners' dredger Moy was brought into action at 1 a.m., and after a couple of cables had snapped, the dredger managed to get a pull on the vessel, and it was brought into mid-channel and refloated.

Villagers from Mornington were engaged all night carting away the abandoned coal in carts, wheel barrows and sacks, regarding it as sea-wrack.

Flare Signals on Lonely Loch

Man Missing After Fishing Trip

Fires which a woman lit along the shore of the lonely waters of Loch Shiel, Inverness-shire, started yesterday a police search for her husband, who is feared to have been drowned while fishing.

Mr. Edward Chalmers, a 70-years-old retired business man, of Shean Mhor, Onich, Inverness-shire, was on his annual fishing holiday at Loch Shiel.

On Wednesday evening he left his summer bungalow and went out into the loch in a small boat with two fishing-rods.

On Thursday night the boat was found drifting with only one rod in it by a man whose attention had been attracted by the fires. He crossed the loch in his own boat and learned from Mrs. Chalmers of her plight.

She told him that when her husband failed to return on Wednesday night she became alarmed. In the darkness and loneliness of the place she could do nothing. At dawn she lit the fires along the shore.

Mr. Edward Chalmers, a retired Edinburgh man, was staying in one of the loneliest spots in the West Highlands. It is three miles from the nearest cottage, which is reached by a rough narrow track.

When he did not return Mrs. Chalmers walked along the lochside and shouted until she was hoarse, hoping to be heard on the opposite side. In the dim light she saw an empty boat drifting. As morning was breaking she kindled the fires seen by Dugald Cameron, a retired shepherd, who found her exhausted and overcome with fear.

It is believed that Mr. Chalmers fell in while landing a fish. The loch has many deep pools. Rarely has a body been recovered from its depths.

TO BE RELEASED FROM QUARANTINE

SPANISH DESTROYER AT FALMOUTH

The Port Medical Officer (Dr. Deakin), at a meeting of Falmouth Port Sanitary Authority yesterday, reported that the Spanish destroyer Jose Luis Diéz, now at Falmouth, would be released from quarantine to-day. It was hoped that she would quickly depart from these waters. Sickness on board was caused by the men eating mussels.

It is expected that some days will elapse before the vessel leaves Falmouth. When she arrived for repairs on August 31 she was in a damaged condition, bombs having been dropped close to her in a raid on Gijon. It was stated that the crew were half-starved and badly clad.

The British Government informed the commanding officer that he might remain at Falmouth long enough to enable such repairs to be made as might render the ship seaworthy.

Last week some 66 men belonging to the destroyer went ashore and sought permission to leave the docks. The authorities tried to persuade the men to return to the vessel, but they declined. The Home Office was consulted, and the men were conveyed to Exeter Prison. It was stated, however, that while there they would not be treated as prisoners and that they were under detention as aliens who had not been given permission to land. They were being accommodated in Exeter Prison pending the completion of arrangements by the Spanish Embassy for their repatriation to Spain.

James Palmer, a married man, of 63 years, dropped dead on Thursday on Sheerness Beach. He had just returned in a dinghy after rowing out to a friend fishing in a boat about 400 yards from the shore. He sat down on a groyne, had a joke with a few boatmen, and then got up and collapsed.

VOLUNTEERS IN SPAIN

NO MORE ITALIAN TROOPS

NEW THREE-POWER DISCUSSIONS

THE signs of an approaching Detente between Britain and France on the one hand and Italy on the other, may, it is believed, herald a new approach to the problem of intervention in Spain, Reuter learns.

The Italian Government are to be informed that Britain and France have agreed that steps should be taken to settle this question by means of tripartite discussions between the three countries.

This agreement followed a further visit which M. Corbin, the French Ambassador, paid to Mr. Eden yesterday morning. It is understood in French circles that the conversation touched on the question of volunteers in Spain.

The Italian assurances in this connection are understood definitely to mean that Italy is undertaking not to send any further troops to Spain.

Both the British and French Governments are now anxious for some positive advance to be made towards the withdrawal of volunteers. When this question was raised earlier in the year both Britain and France insisted that the withdrawals should be proportional to the numbers engaged on each side.

As there are more volunteers with the insurgents than with the Government this would mean that General Franco would lose more men at a time than the Valencia command.

There are indications, however, now, that this principle might be waived in favour of numerical parity so long as a real start with the withdrawals could be made.

FRANCO DISMISSES TRONCOSO

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

BORDEAUX, Friday.

General Franco has relieved Major Troncoso of his Irun commands, according to the Bayonne Correspondent of the Petite Gironde.

Major Troncoso was Military Governor of Irun.

It is stated that a successor, whose name is not known, is to be appointed to-morrow.

The newspaper declares that the atmosphere is again peaceful on the frontier, and adds that the Mobile Guards are leaving to-morrow.

THE ARRESTED FRENCH CONSUL

A statement that the arrest of M. Desmartys, the French Consul at Malaga, has no connection with recent incidents in the South of France, has been issued in Salamanca, according to a Spanish insurgent Press Service message received by Reuter in London.

The statement adds: "No recognition has ever been given by the Nationalist Government to this person, who has been arrested because of his alleged private understanding with the 'Reds.'"

BRITISH TRADE INTERESTS

NOTE TO BE SENT TO FRANCO

Questions relating to British trade interests in Spanish Insurgent territory have for some time been under consideration in London, and it is expected that the British Government will shortly send a communication on this subject to General Franco, Reuter learns.

At the beginning of this month General Franco despatched a Note to the British Government asking that a number of Spanish Insurgent Consuls should be recognised in Britain.

It is pointed out, however, that to permit Consular representation would be tantamount to recognising the Insurgent authorities.

On the other hand, the legitimate trade between Britain and the Insurgent territory is sufficiently important to make an interchange of trade representatives a possibility.

So far British trade relations with General Franco have been mainly carried on by Mr. A. J. Pack, the former Commercial Secretary to the British Embassy at Hendaye, and by his successor, Mr. C. B. Jerram.

Successful negotiations are also understood to have been carried on with General Franco by Mr. Evan Davis, general manager of the Orconera Iron Ore Company, the British firm which owns important mines near Bilbao. It is stated that a regular supply of ore from the mines is now being received in Great Britain.

SHELL-SHATTERED OVIEDO

DEFENDERS HEAR GUNS OF RELIEF FORCE

FROM E. R. SHEEPSHANKS, THE PRESS ASSOCIATION SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.

OVIEDO, Friday.

The defenders of this shell-shattered capital of the Asturias were to-day, for the first time, listening to the distant boom of the insurgent long-range guns in the Pajares Pass sector. It is from there that the relieving force is advancing.

Although the troops are still about forty miles distant, the shells are exploding nearer, and sound travels far in the mountains.

The remaining 10,000 of the civilian population, of whom 6,000 are women, have been living in the sandbagged cellars of their ruined homes for fourteen months, listening to the detonations of bombs and shells above ground and mines underground.

The distant reverberations are believed to represent the end of over a year of constant strain and danger, considering which the inhabitants present cheerfulness is astonishing. When I visited the city I did not find one house still possessing glass in the windows, while virtually every building throughout the city, if it has escaped total destruction, bears countless shell and bullet marks; the worst sufferers being the stately mansions of the rich Asturian coal mine owners.

The fine Gothic Cathedral is now without a spire and the arms factory—one of Spain's biggest, employing 7,000 workers—is a mass of stone wreckage, among which the machinery stands forlornly. Many of the machines bear the names of famous Manchester and Connecticut firms.

The Government lines surround the heart of the city on three sides, about seven hundred yards distant from the centre, and, in some places, only ten yards distant from the buildings are trenches held by the front line Insurgent troops.

FOOD SUPPLIES

Despite ever-present danger and discomfort, with their only lighting candles stuck in bottles, the citizens I met were quite cheerful. Quantities of food and drink and cigarettes, and every kind of provisions, are brought in by lorry from Grado, from which a narrow road runs over the mountains to the city. This is Oviedo's only link with the outside world. It is an extremely dangerous motor drive, as the road passes between the lines of the enemy trenches on either side and machine-guns are trained on it. The defence of the town has already cost the Insurgents nearly five thousand dead.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

Herr Von Stohrer yesterday presented his letters of credit to General Franco at Salamanca as German Ambassador.

After the customary speeches both General Franco and the new Ambassador appeared on the balcony of the Municipal Palace, and were wildly acclaimed by the crowd.

BIG LONDON FIRE

200 FIREMEN ENGAGED

Thousands of people last night lined the streets leading to Brewery road, Islington, London, to watch 200 firemen fight a factory fire. The flames shot up from 30 to 40 feet above the building. Some of the firemen had narrow escapes from falling glass and slates.

The outbreak was first discovered by men working late at the premises of Speedec, Limited, forwarding agents, of Brewery road. They ran into an adjoining building owned by Mercantile Products, Limited, and tried to extinguish the outbreak there with buckets of water, but the flames had got too strong a hold, and were spreading rapidly. A district call was circulated, and twenty engines, with 200 firemen, hurried to the scene.

Many of the firemen had to use gas masks. The fire was under control by midnight.

The outbreak was extinguished by one o'clock.

CHANCELLORSHIP OF EDINBURGH

RECTOR'S TRIBUTE TO BARRIE

A committee to nominate a successor to the late Sir James Barrie as Chancellor of Edinburgh University was appointed at a meeting of the General Council of the University yesterday. Nominations will be made at the next meeting of the Council on October 29.

Sir Herbert Grierson, the Rector, said that with the Chancellor passed away the most distinguished man of letters whom the University had sent out since Thomas Carlyle. It could not be said that the University had as much part in shaping the genius of Sir James as even of Carlyle, for Barrie's was not the kind of genius that owed much, or anything, to scholastic and academic training; but he looked back upon his University with a kindlier eye than Carlyle.

AN ARTILLERY ENTHUSIAST

Three teams competed yesterday. The results will not be disclosed until the two remaining brigades shoot off to-day.

THE WHEAT CROP

PREPARING FOR PLANTING

The notice from the Department of Agriculture which appears in our advertising columns is a useful reminder that wheat is now admittedly the best paying crop on the land. The bulk of the wheat grown in this country, being of the winter variety, must be sown very soon, preferably in October, and if the best results are to be secured farmers should now be thinking over the preparation of the land and the securing of good sound seed, if these matters have not already received attention.

The first essential for the successful production of wheat is the provision of a good, clean and firm seed bed. Where it is intended to sow wheat after a root crop, nothing can be done, of course, until the root crop has been removed from the ground; but where it is proposed to sow on lea, or on land on which a corn crop was grown this year, early arrangements should be made for the preliminary ploughing. In the case of corn land every opportunity for stubble cleaning should be taken, and the ploughing of such land and of lea intended for wheat cannot be done too soon. In the case of lea, the skimmer of the plough should be set so as to ensure that the grass edgings will be well turned under, and the furrows should be so firmly packed as not to give way when walked upon.

It is no longer necessary to convince farmers of what most people are already convinced—namely, that wheat production is not only in the national interest as an insurance against any shortage in the supplies of our staple foodstuffs in the event of interruption of oversea communication arising from war or other cause, or to any failure of crops in the producing countries, but that it is a decided advantage to the country and to the growers that the large sums of money hitherto sent abroad for the purchase of wheat should be given instead to our own farmers. Last year over £2,000,000 was distributed in this way among Saorstat farmers. The fact that 223,000 acres were sown last year during what was undoubtedly the most unfavourable sowing period ever experienced is in itself a proof that farmers had satisfied themselves that wheat is a paying proposition.

In view of the lighter yields recently reported from some areas, growers must not be disappointed if, through their own failure to pay proper attention to the selection of seed or to indifferent husbandry, they do not secure the results which well-selected and properly cultivated fields will normally produce. Above all, they should not attempt to grow wheat on poor lands not well suited for the purpose. Suitable dressings of artificial manures will invariably improve the crop, but will not be sufficient to produce a good crop on very unsuitable land.

COLLEGE OF ST. COLUMBA

The Michaelmas term began on Wednesday, 22nd September, with 115 boys, the largest number since 1920.

The Warden has completely recovered from his recent accident, and resumes his ordinary work.

Mr. K. G. White succeeds Mr. P. W. Ching as house master of Grange, and Mr. P. J. Morice becomes house master of the new house. Mr. E. L. Wright, B.A., of St. Edmund Hall, Oxford, joins the modern languages staff.

S. N. Rutherford is senior prefect, and B. U. Townshend is second prefect. J. M. Packard, of Taft School, U.S.A., succeeds N. McL. Sage as English-speaking Union scholar.

A number of boys took Irish for the first time in the Oxford and Cambridge School Certificate, all of whom passed, and two received credits in this subject.

GAVIN LOW'S SHEEP SALE

CLEARANCE AT GOOD PRICES

Messrs. Gavin Low, Ltd., held the fourth of their series of autumn sheep sales in the Dublin Cattle Market yesterday, when an entry of 4,230 head was submitted. Large entries of Galway Cheviot and horny ewes were offered, as well as a very good offering of cross-breds. There was a large attendance of buyers from all parts of Ireland, while shipping interests were well represented. The majority of the consignments were of a very good class, and good prices were obtained privately, but the demand under the hammer was somewhat dragging. Nevertheless, a very good clearance was effected, with prices, taking quality into consideration, generally very little under those of previous sales.

ENDEAVOUR'S SKIPPER BURIED AT SEA

VILLAGERS' TRIBUTE OF REGRET

While Captain George Williams, skipper of Endeavour II., was being buried at sea yesterday villagers at his native home, Hamble, Hampshire, observed a two minutes' silence.

Among those who doffed their caps were veterans who had known Captain Williams as a small boy.

A knell was sounded for fifteen minutes at the parish church.

The burial at sea was conducted by the captain of the Philante, Mr. T. O. Sopwith's motor yacht, which is bringing Endeavour II. to England.

Mrs. Williams was told of her husband's burial, and another message by cablegram from the Philante's doctor confirmed the news that he died of hæmorrhage.

"THE CHURCH OF IRELAND GAZETTE"

The first leading article of "The Church of Ireland Gazette" this week is: "On the Side of the Angels," with Michaelmas Day in prospect. The second leader: "Tipping," introduces in light vein angels of another variety. "In Quietness and Confidence" approaches modestly the subject of thanksgiving. Coleridge is the author discussed in "Refreshment from the Poets." The Dean of St. Patrick's writes characteristically on "My Happy Choral Festivals," and there is the full text of the sermon of the Bishop of Ossory preached before the members of the General Synod of the Church of England in Canada.

DUBLIN DISTRICT COURT

HOUSEBREAKING CHARGES

(BEFORE MR. LENNON.)

William Johnston, Cabra road, Dublin, who appeared on remand, pleaded guilty to charges of housebreaking and larceny, and was further remanded for a week in custody, the Justice stating that he wanted to see what could be done to provide compensation to the owners of the stolen property.

Kathleen Johnston, the accused man's wife, had been charged with receiving the stolen property and with having it illegally in her possession. This charge was dismissed, and she was discharged.

It was stated that the parties had been married only three months ago. Johnston's father said that he was prepared to make good the loss of the stolen property.

The amount of money stolen was said to be £12 6s.

Mr. J. A. Geary, solicitor (Chief State Solicitor's Office) prosecuted, and Mr. J. J. O'Connor, solicitor, defended.

GOSSIP FROM THE COURSE

PORTWAY LANE WINS

Lohengrin's Narrow Success: Earthstopper For Cup

FROM OUR TRAVELLING CORRESPONDENT.

NEWBURY, Friday Night.

THE Newbury Autumn Cup, to be decided here to-morrow, should, as usual, tell us a few things about the Cesarewitch chances of some of those that will be taking part in the race. Visitors will, however, be denied the opportunity of seeing the raging Cambridgeshire favourite, Dan Bulger, as the present intention is that his race will again be the Norwich Handicap next week at Newmarket instead of the John Porter Plate to-morrow.

It promises to be a good Cup field to-morrow, headed by Carioca, and likely to be accompanied by his stable companion, Miss Windsor, who seems better weighted and has a better chance. Solar Bear, the mount of Gordon Richards, will attract some attention, but he has no better chance than Kept On. Battle Song would have a great chance at the weights if he got the distance well, but about this there is some doubt.

As Dytchley runs instead of Signature, it is an indication that his chance is fancied, and his good performance at York, where he was second in the Ebor to Weathervane, puts him well in. Coup de Roi, who was third there, is allowed 1lb., but a slight preference is for the chance of Dytchley.

Sir Percy Loraine's Coup de Roi has 12lb more than he won this race under last year, and the company all round seems rather better than it was twelve months ago. The winner of the Prince Edward Handicap at Manchester, Earthstopper, has 5lb. the worst of it with Miss Windsor for the length beating he gave her, but Sir Abe Bailey's four-year-old won more easily at Castle Irwell than the verdict suggests, and he should finish in front of the filly again.

Scandal's Chance

The improved Scandal, whom W. Wing rides, will start a greatly fancied candidate, and I take him to be the chief danger to EARTHSTOPPER. Hard to Part, who has won his last four races, including the Abbeystead Handicap at Liverpool, might be able to run into a place.

A victory for Scandal in this race, or even a good performance, would project his stable companion, Epigram, more strongly into the limelight as a possible winner of the Cesarewitch, for which he has already been well backed.

This has been a lively day's racing, with the inevitable big Newbury autumn fields. There was much interest in the opening event, for Gordon Richards again elected to ride Fresh Fox, who put him down twice in the paddock at York and then behaved himself in a most unruly fashion, which incurred the displeasure of the Stewards.

Fresh Fox was a model of deportment today. He was slowly and decorously into his stride, but he soon made up the ground, and, getting the better of Abaris in the straight, was a comfortable winner by three-parts of a length.

Frank Hartigan would not let Fresh Fox go and bought him back into the stable at 310 guineas. He is much above plating when he chooses.

A Neck Victory

Baron de Tuyll has not had the best of luck with his horses for some time, but an hour after Fresh Fox had won in his colours he took the rich Highclere Nursery, to which there is 1,000 sovs. added, with Portway Lane, a grey gelding by the young sire Portlaw, who, although not favourite, was one of the best backed in a race in which the betting took a wide range. He won by a neck from the actual first favourite, Miss Paget's Lady Maderty gelding, who is also by Portlaw.

It was a good performance by the second as well as the winner, for Portway Lane had the luck to be drawn on the rails on the stands side, and Smirke got him away so smartly that he was never headed. The second was closing with him, but could never get to him.

The result was a splendid advertisement for Portlaw, who was such a brilliant sprinter when he carried the colours of Sir Abe Bailey. Herridge, the Warden of the Marches colt, who was winning earlier in the season, did best of the others, but he finished four lengths off.

Another Exciting Finish

There was another exciting two-year-old finish in the Newbury Autumn Foal Plate, in which Lord Portman's Lohengrin beat the Aga Khan's heavily-backed favourite, Saaf, by a head. Here, again, the leading pair had singled themselves out; for the third, Aegisthus, was three lengths behind. Michael Beary rode one of his best winners on this Bold Archer colt, who is trained by his brother.

It is not often that we see a dead-heat in a race on the flat confined to amateur riders, but there was one in the United Services Cup, when the judge divided the stake between Sir Bertie, ridden by Mr. Ronald Strutt, of the Coldstream Guards, and Saxford, ridden by Captain C. B. Harvey, of the 10th Hussars. The pair had a set to extending over three furlongs, and Sir Bertie appeared to be having the better of it when Saxford came again to force the dead-heat.

In the Saddle Again

Everyone was glad to see Captain Moseley, of the Royal Dragoons, in the saddle again. He has only just resumed riding following a bad fall at Cheltenham in the spring of last year, which kept him twelve months in a steel jacket. He rode Smerwick for Mrs. Hollins in this race, and will be associated with her jumpers this winter.

Donoghue had a winner when Tommy Pink took the Letcombe Selling Nursery for Victor Tabor, the son of Tommy Atkins beating Off Chance by half a length.

Mr. Chris. Jarvis, who owns this second, won the Lambourn Plate with Galsonia, who proved too good for Bow and Arrow on the latter's favourite course.

Most of the winners were well backed horses, although no clear first favourite was successful until Hornpipe, on whom odds were laid in a big field, took the seventh and last race, the Arlington Plate for horses that had not won 110 sovs. up to closing.

Hornpipe is the Manton-trained colt on whom odds were laid at Chepstow when he was beaten by the St. Leger winner, Chulmleigh, the difference between them being four lengths. He had since run second to Milton Abbas in the Cleveland Handicap at Doncaster.

Selections

With Dan Bulger a doubtful runner, the John Porter Plate seems to be between the Doncaster Cup winner, Haulfryn, and FLAG OF TRUCE, and the preference is for the latter.

The Donnington Castle Maiden Plate looks a fairly good thing for FROLIC WIND. EARTHSTOPPER, as mentioned above, is the selection for the Cup.

Except for the Perth Hunt meeting next week, the Scottish tour ends to-morrow at Hamilton Park, where the Cinquefoil Nursery may be won by FACEY ROMFORD and the Strathclyde Handicap by POITRELLA.

PHŒNIX PARK PROGRAMME

TWO-YEAR-OLD TESTS

Dark Sea and Lugnadmedon May Win the Chief Events

TO-DAY'S meeting is the last of the season at the Phœnix Park course. Two years old races, as usual, feature the fixture, and the field of eleven runners for the La Touche Plate includes some smart youngsters. Bow Bell and The Abbess showed useful form in the early part of the season, but the recent running of Dark Sea makes more appeal. This daughter of Beresford, who is trained at the Heath, Maryborough, from which stable so many good two years old have been turned out this season, finished third to Servile Sin and Lugnadmedon at the last meeting here, and as she will be ridden by the champion jockey, M. Wing, her chance is an obvious one. The danger to her may be Bow Bell.

Tote Double on Third and Fourth Races.

Though there will be only four runners for the Tara Plate class is well represented by Lugnadmedon, Weavers Road, Quidnunc and Kittie Prince. There should be a close finish, but the preference is for Lugnadmedon. Selections:—

Tinode Plate—Wainsford.
Terenure Plate—Goldhawk.
Templeogue Plate—Tolvanera.
La Touche Plate—Dark Sea.
Trim Plate—White Vixen.

NEWBURY CUP

British Quota Gets Vote From Scandal and Earthstopper

THE Newbury Autumn Cup, which is regarded as the best test for the Cesarewitch, will be decided at Newbury today. It may throw some light on the Newmarket long-distance race. The field is expected to reach good dimensions. There are several horses fancied for the prize; the best of them may be British Quota, who gets the vote from Scandal and Earthstopper.

British Quota has won some "class" events in the past. She is a proved stayer, and her form this season points to her coming right into her best running. She won the Lewes Handicap over a mile and a half, and then I thought she was a trifle unlucky when going under to Muscovado in a two-mile race at Kempton Park. Now that she has only 7st. 9lb. to carry, she should just about win. Her weight in the Cesarewitch is 7st. 3lb. Peter Maher has been engaged to ride the mare, and there is no doubt that the little Irishman will get the best out of her.

Joe Lawson saddles both Earthstopper and Severino. I fully expect Earthstopper to prove the better of the pair. He had to go all out to beat Miss Windsor at Manchester, and even though he is now at a disadvantage in the weights, he may confirm the running.

At the same time, Severino will not be easily beaten. He did not run badly when unplaced to Epigram in the Goodwood Stakes. He can meet Miss Windsor on 1lb. better terms now. Scandal has won his last two races. He was successful at Hurst Park, and then took the West of Scotland Trial Handicap at Ayr, over two miles and two furlongs. Even with his penalty, Scandal must be considered. He has probably got the most consistent record this season of any horse engaged.

Solar Bear had not the best of luck in the Goodwood Stakes. He had a heavy weight to carry there. He has a bit less to shoulder now, and I look to his putting in a strong race. Dytchley was narrowly beaten by Weathervane at York. He should stay on, though he has his full share of weight. Carioca should not be far away, and of the others engaged Coup de Roi and Euclid II. appear to be the best. The selection is

BRITISH QUOTA.

For the John Porter Plate Haulfryn and Flag of Truce appear to be the best.

who won the Doncaster Cup, may score again. He has a good weight to carry here, but he should do so successfully over a mile and a quarter. This race will be part of his preparation for the Cesarewitch

Flag of Truce has obvious claims after the way he won at Sandown Park. That was only over a mile, but he finished full of running. Haulfryn will find it hard to concede Lawson's charge the weight. Naval Display won over a mile and a half at Chepstow, but I doubt if he will hold the other two.

The Whatcombe Handicap will bring out some of our best sprinters. It has a very open look about it, but may carry successfully the penalty for his win at Gatwick during the week. The gelding has had a lot of racing this season, but has been showing brilliant form.

Shalfleet carries the heavy weight of 9st. 12lb. He is used to such burdens, and I think he can improve on his display when unplaced to Carissa at Doncaster. Swiss Cottage should do well on some of her form, while Member has a distinct chance. Of those at the bottom of the handicap Miss Robin looks best.

FROLIC WIND

looks a fairly good thing for the Donnington Castle Maiden Plate. The filly has been doing well at home since she won at Folkestone. Kildown is a possible danger.

Tenacious and Phileas have the best credentials in the selling races.

At Hamilton Park I regard

as the best bet in the Lanarkshire Handicap.

Croke Park Pitch In Splendid Trim For Football Final

RECORD ATTENDANCE EXPECTED

Cavan's Skill in Attack May Bring Them Victory

(BY PAT'O.)

CROKE PARK pitch looked its best when I inspected it in company with Mr. P. J. O'Keeffe and Groundsman Curran yesterday. The rest has been of immense benefit to the ground, and regular rolling and mowing have won a beautiful carpet, close and smooth. There is a spring on the level sod which lends itself to speed and precision.

The new terracing in front of the stands will accommodate double last year's figures, and the popular hill near the railway wall is terraced to the summit. A protecting barrier of corrugated iron ten feet high surrounds the scaffolding of the new unfinished stands, necessitating the cutting away of a corner at the canal end. Yet the engineers have calculated an accommodating space for 55,000 spectators, with new side line scheme.

Judging by inquiries from all four provinces, as well as the chartering of special boats by cross-Channel visitors, I think all attendance records will be broken. Reports from the rival camps are optimistic, yet the tone is couched in a spirit of mutual respect. There is still a question of the release of

THE CAPTAINS

T. O'REILLY (Cavan).

M. DOYLE (Kerry).

M. Lyne (Killarney) from his clerical studies, and provision is made for his absence. So well did Garoid Fitzgerald play in his final test at Tralee that the Dublin Geraldine can be called on to fill the place of the younger Landers, who will move to an accustomed corner in Lyne's place on Kerry's left attack. Teams are likely to line up as follows:—

CAVAN

Goal—W. Young.
Backs — E. Finnegan, J. Smith, M. Denneny.
Halves—P. Smith, T. O'Reilly (capt.), J. J. O'Reilly.
Centres—J. White, W. Carroll.
Forwards — D. Morgan, P. Devlin, V. White, M. J. Magee, L. Blessing, P. Boylan

KERRY

Goal—D. O'Keeffe.
Backs—W. Kinnerk, J. Keohane, W. Myers.
Halves—W. Dillon, M. Doyle (capt.), T. Healy.
Centres—J. Walsh, P. Kennedy.
Forwards—T. Landers, C. O'Sullivan, J. Brosnan, M. Lyne, T. O'Donnell, J. J. Landers.

It is remarkable that, while Cavan have held intact the full personnel and formation that have won their way to the final, Kerry, from the opening game to the finish, have been experimenting with men and places. Cavan were a set team before their Ulster programme opened; Kerry were unsteady, as a lot of youngsters needed breaking and skilful handling. My impression is that they have handled well, and every week of preparation has helped Kerry. They have learned much from two severe games against the powerful Laoighis side. Natural football instincts, rude health, youth, and the inspiration of a great football county behind them—these are Kerry's attributes. Cavan are the mature artists, with intricate puzzling skill in attack, and a defence seasoned to every form of raid, whether on ground or overhead.

Kerry's tall, long-limbed backs will reach higher—they are essentially overhead footballers, who will be favoured by a sunny day, dry foothold and bouncing ball. Cavan strike me as having far more ball control on the ground. Without overdoing Kildare's hand-passing methods, they will use the All Whites' tapping movements to good purpose. Every one of the Northern six can, and will, shoot for the posts on the slightest opening. That's how they beat a slightly better team in Mayo.

Pat Kennedy's injured back was still very tender on the try-out at Tralee. His re-entrance gives new strength to Kerry's midfield, and I think the Munstermen may have a vital advantage here should the tall Annascaul boy reproduce his perfect partnership with John Walsh, of Ballylongford. Kerry's tall defenders strike me as the longer kickers and more rangy fielders.

FORWARD ADVANTAGE

When we compare the respective forwards the advantage lies with Cavan—this is the best scoring machine in the game: all nimble, fast-thinking forwards, who will not dally in giving the posts a chance. Cavan are the broad-shouldered and more uniform group of well-turned men, with weight in the right place. Kerry have a few small men in front, yet the bulk of the side are tall, straight-legged youths, limber and resilient, who have proved themselves capable of rising to great occasions. Tim O'Donnell's unusual position and J. J. Landers's return from retirement have brought questionings in the Kerry camp. Yet experience has taught us that Kerry advisers are the most astute of any. Changes of position are possible before the hour is out. Six of Kerry's fifteen are under 21 years. The fact may be a handicap against such a sturdy, seasoned team as Cavan; yet these youths from the South-West have answered every question and finished the hour with a rattle. This should prove a close finish where experience, allied to skill in zig-zag attack, may pull the game around in Cavan's favour. Should the Kerry youths win they are destined for a long sequence. They will be far better next season.

THE PROGRAMME

2.0 p.m.—
Minor Football—Cavan v. Wexford

3.15 p.m.—
Senior Football—Cavan v Kerry.

THE REFEREES

Mr. Martin Hennessy, who referees the major game, is a native of Clare who has been in the National Army for many years. He helped to rebuild the Parnell club, and has refereed important games with uniform success. Mr. Stephen Synnott, who has charge of the minor game, is the eldest of the famous family of O'Toole club footballers. He was a brainy forward, and is one of our most efficient referees.

The Central Council will fix the opening rounds of the National Leagues at to-night's meeting.

SAVOY RESTAURANT

In connection with the All-Ireland football final on Sunday next the management of the Savoy Cinema restaurant has decided to open the restaurant at 10 a.m. on Sunday. Special facilities have been provided for visitors, and a special menu arranged.

Both teams have been invited to attend the last gala performance of the special second birthday show, which will be presented by Jimmy Campbell and the Theatre Royal Orchestra. Alderman A. Byrne, Lord Mayor, has intimated his intention of being present for this brilliant performance.

SWIMMING

SCHOOLS' SQUADRON TITLE RETAINED

EXCITING FINAL HEAT AT WESLEY COLLEGE GALA

The annual gala of the Wesley College Swimming Club at the Iveagh Baths last night attracted a very large attendance. In an exceptionally fine programme the outstanding event was the Senior Schools' Squadron Championship of Leinster. The times of the holders, Clongowes, and of Presentation, Glasthule, in the heats were identical, and promised a great final. This was fully realised, the final producing probably the most thrilling race in the history of the competition. Clongowes retained the title mainly by virtue of the swimming of Healy over the third leg of the course, and deserved their victory on this account, but the Glasthule team put up a grand fight.

J. Allen, High School, won the Leinster Schools' Intermediate Championship after a fine race with H. Robinson. The prizes were distributed by Mr. H. P. Crawford. Details:—

GARDA RECORD BROKEN

At the Iveagh Baths last evening Detective Officer W. F. Case, brother of the Irish champion, R. N. Case, won the 100 yards championship of the Garda. Garda Reynolds (holder) defended his title, notwithstanding that he has been on the sick list for some time. Garda P. O'Byrne (Dépôt), a former holder of the title and record, was second. Case led throughout, and won by a foot in 67 7-10 secs. The previous best time was 68 secs.

IMPERIAL TOBACCO GALA

The annual gala of the Imperial Tobacco Company's Swimming Club, which is to be held at the Iveagh Baths, Bride road, Dublin, on Wednesday next, promises to be up to the usual high standard. The outstanding item is the semi-final of the Irish Water Polo Cup between Pembroke and Sandycove. There is also a junior club squadron race, which, being confined to junior clubs, is virtually the unofficial junior squadron championship of Leinster. Excellent entries have been received for the Ladies' open handicap and men's open handicap races.

AMATEUR BOXING

LEINSTER COUNCIL MEETING

PROVINCIAL TITLES NOT A SUCCESS

The annual convention of the Leinster Council of the Irish Amateur Boxing Association was held in Jury's Hotel, Dublin, last night, Chief Superintendent Carroll presiding. Delegates from fifteen clubs were present. The Hon. Treasurer's report showed that while there was a credit balance there had been a loss on the year due to various grants.

A lengthy discussion took place in regard to the Leinster championships. It was stated that, while there had been no loss last season, they had not been a financial success, nor had they received the support which might have been expected from the clubs. It was decided to leave the question of whether the championships be held this season to the incoming Council. The general opinion was that they should be continued.

The election of officers resulted as follows:—President, Chief Superintendent P. J. Carroll (re-elected); Hon. Secretary, Mr. D. Fitzsimons (Catholic Boy Scouts); Hon. Treasurer, Mr. J. Comerford (Tramway).

Standing Committee:—S. Murphy (Arbour Hill), Garda J. Brannigan, P. J. Kilcullen (St. Andrew's), J. Ryan (St. Vincent's), T. Flood (Kells), J. J. Boyle (Luttrellstown), J. Byrne (Unity), J. Coffey (Arbour Hill).

NEWMARKET HINTS FOR TO-DAY

We shall not be represented in the first two races at Newbury, but all our candidates in the Autumn Cup—namely, Rao Sahib, Euclid II., Fairlead, Dytchley and Asterion—are fancied. Rao Sahib and Euclid II. have plenty of weight for second season performers, but they have the right credentials for a race of this description. Rao Sahib showed that stamina was his strong suit when winning over two miles at Gatwick, and the tests to which Euclid II. has been put in home gallops suggest that he is not lacking in that respect.

Fairlead is very well, and may do better than is generally anticipated, and, although Dytchley has not run over this distance previously, I see no reason to doubt his staying powers. He always has been running on at the end of his races. I should not care to say that he is certain to do better than his lightly-weighted stable companion, Asterion, who, in my opinion, is a good horse. He may be the danger to EUCLID II. (nap).

For some time now I have noted the great improvement made by Gaskell's youngster,

KILNDOWN (next best),

and it is on the strength of a gallop I saw him put up with Golden Beam and Pantry Man a few days ago that I suggest an each-way investment on the son of Birthright for the Donnington Castle Plate.

SHALFLEET

ran his usual game race behind Carissa at Doncaster, and should require a lot of beating for the Whatcombe Handicap.

THE SCOUT FOR STUD IN IRELAND

NEW YORK, Friday.

Mr. William Woodward's The Scout II., who raced in England from 1928 until he pulled up lame after winning the Yorkshire Cup in 1931, left for Ireland to-day in the liner American Farmer, to go to stud at Lord Adare's farm in Co. Limerick.

HANDBALL

ALL-IRELAND GARDA FINAL

The All-Ireland Garda intermediate hard ball singles championship final, left over from Garda Week, was played at the Depot court, Phœnix Park, yesterday, and resulted in Garda P. O'Connor (D.M.G.) beating Garda P. Driscoll (Depot) by 21-16, 21-18, 21-17.

Gay Cavalier, owned and trained by Mr. John Bell at Newmarket, has been stopped in his work. The three years old colt has contracted heel-bug. Up to the present Gay Cavalier is the only horse affected in Mr. Bell's stable.

RUGBY FOOTBALL

SEVEN-A-SIDE COMPETITION

CHARITY MATCHES TO OPEN SEASON

The experiment of opening the season with the annual seven-a-side competition is to be made this afternoon, and, if successful, will doubtless be repeated in other years. All the eleven Dublin senior clubs have entered teams, and as the proceeds go to that very deserving charity, the St. Vincent de Paul Society, it is to be hoped that favourable weather will prevail and the attendance be of satisfactory dimensions. Instead of the usual Ladies' Lacrosse match a nine-a-side match between a combined team of Castleknock College and Mountjoy School, last season's Schools' Cup finalists, and a picked Dublin schools' team will fill in the interval between the semi-finals and final. This match will start at approximately 4.50 p.m., and periods of ten minutes each way will be played. The first of the seven-a-side matches between Clontarf and University College starts at 2.30, and the final should be reached by about 5.20. The following is the order of play:—

FIRST ROUND.

2.30—(A) Clontarf v. University College.
2.45—(B) Dublin University v. Blackrock College.
3. 0—(C) Bective Rangers v. Old Belvedere.

SECOND ROUND.

3.15—Monkstown v. Wanderers.
3.30—Palmerston v. Old Wesley.
3.45—Winner of A v. Winner of B.
4. 0—Winner of C v. Lansdowne.
Semi-finals, 4.15 and 4.30. Final, 5.20, approximately.

BOXING

CARNERA'S RETURN TO THE RING

TO FIGHT IN LONDON NEXT MONTH

One of the biggest surprises that has been provided in the boxing world for a considerable time was the announcement yesterday by Mr. Ben Huntman that he had signed two former world champions—Primo Carnera (heavy-weight) and Al Brown (bantam-weight) —for fights at the Royal Albert Hall, London, during the coming winter season. Carnera will definitely appear against a selected opponent on October 28th.

Mr. Huntman, who returned to London yesterday after a week in Italy, said: "I have signed Carnera for a series of contests at the Royal Albert Hall. The Italian will arrive on October 15 to complete his training. Primo only consented to come after a ten hours' discussion. He looked fit and has kept in training." Mr. Huntman added that he had also signed Al Brown in Paris yesterday on his way home.

Carnera made his last ring appearance in England in May, 1932, when he was beaten on points by Larry Gains at the White City. His last fight was in May of last year when he lost to the negro, Lerdy Haynes, in New York. Carnera won the world title from Jack Sharkey in 1933, and lost it a year later to Max Baer.

NEW CHAMPIONS

THIL AND ESCOBAR LOSE THEIR TITLES

NEW YORK, Friday.

Two champions lost their titles in Mike Jacobs's "Carnival of Champions" at the Polo Grounds last night. Fred Apostoli (middle-weight) and Harry Jeffra (bantam-weight) are new champions, but Apostoli will have to meet Freddie Steele in a fight under championship conditions to decide who is undisputed champion of the world.

Apostoli won his title from Marcel Thil, of France, who was regarded by the International Boxing Union as the champion, and Jeffra defeated Sixto Escobar on points to gain the bantam-weight title.

Lou Ambers confounded the critics by retaining his light-weight title against Pedro Montanez, and Barney Ross, as was generally expected, retained his welter-weight title against the challenge of Cedermo Garcia. Both these contests were won on points.

Apostoli won his fight after forty-four seconds in the tenth round, a deep cut over Thil's right eyelid having forced the referee to stop the bout. Up to that round Thil matched his skill against Apostoli's youth and strength, and was leading on points. Thil won five of the first eight rounds, but at the end of the ninth a terrific left hook from Apostoli opened his eye.

WALSH-JAMES FIGHT OFF

The fight between Jimmy Walsh, British light-weight champion, and Ronnie James, of Wales, which was to have taken place at Swansea next Tuesday, has been cancelled, James having fractured an arm.

Sidley Dee, the well-known sprinter, was sold to Prince Aly Khan at Newbury Races yesterday for 800 guineas. Stella Vita was sold to Mr. L. Cundell for 150 guineas, and carried his name and colours in the Newbury Autumn Foal Plate.

ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL

LEADING TEAMS AT AT HOME

THE WEEK-END SHIELD MATCHES

With Dundalk, the leaders, at home to Bohemians, and Cork, St. James's Gate and Shamrock Rovers also playing on their own grounds, there appears to be little likelihood of a change in the Free State Shield table over the week-end. There are two matches to-day, St. James's Gate entertaining Sligo Rovers at Crumlin, while Shelbourne and Bray Unknowns meet at Shelbourne Park. Despite the fact that they are nothing like as good a side as they were in the League last season, Sligo are not easy to hold in attack, and to-day's match at Crumlin should provide good football, since neither can claim any particular merit in defence. The Gate may just prove the better of two attractive teams. On form so far there would appear to be little between Shelbourne and Bray. The former have signed a new centre-forward in Davis, of the Irish League club, Distillery, while Bray are unchanged from last week, retaining the same team that ran Dundalk so close on that occasion. The home team may just prove too strong.

There is only one match in Dublin to-morrow, but the visit of Limerick to Milltown, where they will meet Shamrock Rovers, should attract plenty of interest. Following their defeat of Drumcondra last Sunday, Limerick will face their task at Milltown with plenty of confidence, especially as they already have a victory over Rovers to their credit in the City Cup; but the experience and all-round soundness of Shamrock Rovers may just turn the verdict in their favour. Bohemians have the task of travelling to Dundalk to meet the leaders, and the task may prove too much for them. Dundalk are very strong in defence, and even though Rigby may not be able to turn out, following his injury in the Leinster Cup match last Wednesday, the forwards should have sufficient scoring openings for victory. Bohemians are making changes, P. O'Kane going back to right-half, Jordan coming on at inside left and P. Ennis replacing Walsh at centre-forward.

Both Cork and Waterford are at home, and they seem likely to overcome Brideville and Drumcondra respectively. The first-named have been below form recently, but the ability is there, and both fore and aft they should prove too speedy for Brideville. Waterford have signed a young centre-forward of promise in C. Prosser, and even though their record in the competition is bad so far, they are due for a revival, which may start to-morrow. Drumcondra could not match Limerick in any department last week and they will hardly salve a point at Waterford to-morrow.

TABLE TENNIS

ALL-IRELAND TEAM

NORTH TO DISCUSS FREE STATE PROPOSAL

Table tennis players in Northern Ireland and the Free State may play in a common representative international team under the name of "Ireland" if a suggestion made by the Irish Free State Table Tennis Association is adoped by the Ulster Association.

At the annual general meeting of the Free State Association, opened on May 7 last, a resolution, submitted by the outgoing Executive Council, "that the incoming Council be empowered to take such steps as they consider necessary to arrange with Northern Ireland for a common representative international team," was adopted unanimously.

Since then the new Council has been in communication with the Northern Association, and has made every effort to bring about the desired union.

In Jury's Hotel, Dublin, last night, at the resumed annual general meeting of the F.S. Association, it was learned that the Northern Association will discuss the matter at its annual meeting, to be held at the end of this month.

Last night's meeting decided to raise the individual affiliation fee to the Association from 6d. for the members of each affiliated club to 1s. The Chairman (Mr. N. M. Kemp) said that it was impossible for the Council to carry on unless it had more funds. He felt sure that no member would begrudge paying an extra 6d. each year.

An appeal was made for clubs intending to affiliate, and for individuals seeking information about the game, to communicate with the honorary secretary, Mr. Cyril Boden, at 36 Northumberland road, Dublin.

CHURCH OF IRELAND LEAGUE

Secretaries of clubs are reminded that Friday, 1st October, is the final day for receiving entries for the above league. For particulars apply to the Hon. Sec., W. J. Clayton, Cheeverstown House, Clondalkin, Co. Dublin.

SPORTING GOSSIP

Punch's Next Race

Mr. T. Westhead, owner of the much-fancied Cesarewitch candidate, Punch, states that the horse's next race will be in the Visitors' Handicap at Newmarket in Cambridgeshire week, and that this will be his last race before the Cesarewitch.

Cambridgeshire Horse Sold

Lord Rosebery has sold Edgehill, winner of the Edinburgh Gold Cup last Tuesday, to Mr. A. J. Redman, who will race him in partnership with Mr. John Hamer. It is understood that the sale included Edgehill's future engagements, among them being the Cambridgeshire, for which race the colt was quoted at 33 to 1 at Thursday's call-over.

Danny Morgan to Ride as Free-lance

Danny Morgan, who has ridden for Ivor Anthony's stable for several seasons, will ride as a free lance under National Hunt Rules this winter. He has been riding in Ireland during the summer and had six winning mounts.

HOCKEY

TO-DAY'S CLUB MATCHES

TRINITY AND RAILWAY IN OPPOSITION

Despite the fact that the League competitions do not start until next Saturday, six of the senior clubs will be in action today, as there are three club matches down for decision. The Dublin University-Railway Union fixture is an annual affair, and at this stage the former are a very tough proposition. As they have seven of the team which won the League championship last year, they should still be one of the strongest of the Leinster teams. They have lost G. K. Donald, H. F. Sloan and F. G. Millar, but with C. R. Cuffe, J. K. Craig, R. F. Browne, J. A. MacDonogh and J. E. Adamson still there, the team is certain to be difficult to beat. The Railway team differs in only one instance from that which did duty last season, Captain H. Cannon, the former Bohemians' and Ireland soccer goalkeeper, taking the goal position. Cannon showed considerable promise for Civil Service last season and he should be well up to senior standard.

In the other two matches, Imperial Tobacco Co. will meet Y.M.C.A. and Dalkey will oppose Avoca School. These matches should give a fair indication of the strength of these teams for the coming season. If J. Gray, the international outside left, turns out for Imperials he will make an enormous difference to their attack, which has hitherto been rather weak and has offset the efforts of V. Sanderson at centre-half and S. C. Wilson at full-back. Y.M.C.A. will be below full strength, W. Fry and N. McConnell being absentees from the forward line. Dalkey and Y.M.C.A. should have an even struggle. The former will feel the loss of S. Haines, their competent full-back, and Avoca, at full strength, may prove too strong for them.

LEINSTER BRANCH I.H.U.

The first Branch Council meeting will be held on Monday, at Londonbridge road, at 7.30 p.m. This will be a most important meeting as it determines the teams for the various leagues. All delegates are earnestly requested to attend.

GUINNESS LOWER

FALL IN IMPERIAL TOBACCOS

Public interest on the Dublin Stock Exchange was of broader dimensions yesterday, and markets presented a busier appearance. Local issues were well maintained, but British Industrials showed an easier trend.

The Free State Funds held steady to firm, and the Third National Loan rose to 108¾. War Loan came in buyers and gained 5s. Banks were quiet and featureless.

Guinness Ord., on a little selling, gave way to 127s. 3d. Distillers Ord. advanced 1s. to 108s. 6d.

Rails were idle, apart from an improvement in Great Southern Ord. to 32½. Dublin Tram Pref. were raised to 22s. 6d., but Alliance Gas Ord. shaded off to 32s. 9d.

Insurance Corporation of Ireland fell 1s. and Sunbeam-Wolsey Ord. slipped back to 34s. 6d. Irish Dunlop Pref. hardened to 28s. 9d., and a number of other local industrials came to hand at unchanged levels.

Textiles showed an easier trend in nominal markings. In Tobaccos, Imperials relapsed 1s. 9d. to 148s. 3d. Ford Motors Ord., Unilever Ord and Vickers Ord. all moved against holders.

LONDON IRREGULAR

ANGLO-AMERICAN ISSUES DEPRESSED

An irregular tendency developed in the London stock market yesterday, the outstanding feature being a sharp fall in Anglo-American descriptions, due to fears that the United States' Treasury is to tax investments held abroad under a reciprocal arrangement with the British authorities for similar measures to be taken by the British Government. This had a disturbing influence on trans-Atlantic Industrial issues, which marked substantial losses. Otherwise markets were quite good, and in some directions the forward movement initiated earlier in the week made further headway. Generally, however, the dull tone of Americans communicated itself over a wide area.

BRITISH FUNDS.

Gilt edged stocks remained firm, and the uncertainty in other sections probably sent more money into this market. British Government stocks were all higher where changed, with local loans leading the advance with a rise of ¼. Gains of ⅛ were frequent.

FOREIGN BONDS.

There was not a great amount of business passing in the foreign market, where Chinese stocks came in for some support and finished a point to the good in several places. On the other hand, Japanese stocks were sold, and moved in the opposite direction. German stocks were inclined to go lower and Peruvians were off colour, but French stocks were generally maintained, and Egyptian Unified advanced over a point.

RAILS.

There was a fair amount of profit-taking among British Railways, with the result that sales exceeded new purchases and the trend of prices was downward, though the movements did not exceed moderate amounts, the highest recession being in L.M.S., which shed ½. Foreign Rails had a quiet day, with a rise of ½ in Cordoba Central Second Debentures the only notable change. Canadian Pacifics moved back ½ with other dollar issues, and American Rails were from 1 to 3 points lower.

MINES.

In the Mining market there was a fair amount of business, developing Mines being bought by bargain hunters, while it was evident that the principal dividend payers were being absorbed by big interests. Crown Mines and Consolidated African Selection were among the shares inquired for. Copper issues were easier with the metal, and were to some extent affected by the position in Wall Street. Tin shares were on the dull side with the metal, which had a substantial fall on the day. Oils were not very active, but Rubber shares attracted a little more attention.

INDUSTRIALS.

Industrials were not so good as earlier in the week. The general trend was lower, particularly in those descriptions connected in any way with the United States. United Molasses, Electrical issues and Cement shares were heavy, but declines were generally confined to moderate limits.

THE MONEY MARKET

TREASURY RATE FIRMER

Tenders were received at the Bank of England for Treasury bills to the maximum amount of £50,000,000. The preliminary statement shows that those dated 91 days, Tuesday to Thursday and Saturday at £99 17s. 6d. received about 53 per cent. and above in full, while those dated 92 days, Monday to Friday, at £99 17s. 6d. and above received in full. This indicates an average rate of approximately 10s. per cent. as compared with 9s. 11.18d. per cent. a week ago.

There was a further increase yesterday in the price of gold. The quotation was ½d. higher at 140s. 6½d. per fine ounce, being based on supply and demand, and included a premium of ¼d. over the dollar at 4.94-90, the rate of fixing. About 111 bars of the approximate value of £312,000 were disposed of in the bullion market at this price.

Silver was unchanged at 19 11/16d. per ounce for spot and 19 11/16d. for forward delivery.

Money was in quiet demand at 10s. per cent. Discount rates were steady pending the result of yesterday's Treasury bill tendering, short and three months' being quoted 11s. 3d. per cent.

The Foreign Exchange market was comparatively quiet. Offerings of francs continued in the morning, but the pressure was not heavy, and only intermittent support by the Bank of France was needed to keep the rate reasonably steady. In the afternoon a little natural buying made its appearance, and the currency closed steady at 144 11/32, an improvement of 3/16 on the previous close. In the forward market, however, quotations further weakened as a result of continued speculative selling. Dollars were in demand at first, but eased in the afternoon.

LONDON "STREET" MARKET

A fairly large crowd again assembled in the American section of the "street" market last evening, and, following the weakness of internationals during the day, very uncertain conditions prevailed. On further adverse Wall street advices shares again came on offer, but a somewhat steadier tone was apparent towards the close. U.S. Steels continued the centre of interest, and, after being offered at one time at 82¼, and rallying to 83¼, closed unchanged on the House close at 83. Nickels eased further to 51⅜, but closed ⅛ better on balance at 51⅝, while Tractions, after receding to 21¼, rallied, and finished slightly easier at 21½. Radios eased to 9¼, Hydros to 6¼, and Holdings to 2⅛, while, among Railroads, New York Centrals rallied to 27, after touching 26½. Shell Unions lost ½ at 20⅜, and, in the Motor group, Chryslers finished sellers at 90½, while General Motors gave way to 48.

THE INDUSTRIAL MARKET

SLUMP IN TRANS-ATLANTICS

The unsettled conditions prevailing on Wall street again upset the equilibrium of the Industrial market yesterday, but Home issues, although mostly easier, were not materially affected.

Adverse advices from New York caused another sharp break in trans-Atlantic Counters, and, although they finished above the worst in the late "street," some substantial losses were recorded. Steels dipped to 82¼ at one time, closing 7 down on balance at 83. Nickels lost 3⅛ at 51⅜, after 51⅜, and Radios ⅝ at 9¼.

ELECTRICAL AND MUSICAL EASIER.

"Emmies" continued under the influence of the dividend declaration, and finished 4½d. easier.

Cable and Wireless stocks had an uncertain appearance, the Ordinary receding to 75, and the Preference to 102¼.

An irregular tendency prevailed among Iron and Steel descriptions. Business generally was on a smaller scale.

Electrical Equipments failed to maintain the firmer tendency which developed on Thursday. Profit-taking in Crompton Parkinson's met with no resistance, and the price reacted 2s. to 54s. 6d.; Associated declined 1s., Generals slipped back 9d., and Ever Ready fell 6d. to 30s.

Motors presented a somewhat irregular appearance, but changes, as a rule, were of small importance.

COURTAULDS ON OFFER.

Little of interest occurred among the Aircrafts, business being on a small scale, and price changes consequently limited.

Among the Stores, Marks and Spencers and Woolworths both finished steady. Provision and Catering issues made a mixed showing. Unilever declined to 39s. 6d., and the N.V. to 41s. 6d.

Changes in the Textile section proved small. In the Rayons, Courtaulds came on offer, and fell 6d. to 52s. 3d. American Celanese made a poor showing at 5⅞ in company with other Wall Street issues.

Breweries moved within narrow limits, there being hardly sufficient business passing to test quotations.

B.A. TOBACCOS DECLINE.

Tobaccos reflected the general dulness, but movements on balance did not amount to much. "Bats" dwindled 1/16 to 5½, and "Imps" finished the turn easier at 7 13/32. Despite a little week-end profit-taking Shipping shares held up fairly well.

The Miscellaneous section reflected the uncertain trend of other departments, and prices, where altered, generally gave way. British Oxygens and Turner and Newall came on offer, and each finished ⅛ down, while a little profit-taking was apparent in Imperial Chemicals, which receded a few pence to 37s. 9d. Dunlops lost 6d. to 33s. 6d.; United Molasses were 9d. down at 29s. 6d., and Associated Portlands lost 1s. 3d.

OILS DULL

The Oil share market was governed more by sentiment than actual business, there being hardly sufficient doing in some shares to test prices. As regards Continental business dealers reported Paris to be hardly in the market all day. In the early hours Amsterdam came in a seller of Royal Dutch, but later turned a small buyer, with the result that although the price was down on balance it finished a trifle above the worst. Mainly owing to the unfavourable American advices operators here showed little inclination to enter upon commitments of any importance, while the general public also held aloof. In the circumstances, it was hardly surprising that prices were allowed to droop. As a general rule, however, the losses recorded were of only small amount.

RUBBERS BETTER

Rubber shares had a better appearance, a fair amount of business being transacted, but it was confined mainly to leading shares. Anglo-Malay, Kuala Lumpur and Telogoredio were all 6d. or more higher, and Linggi and several others hardened, but, on the other hand, Rubber Trusts finished easier and one or two others moved against holders. The price of the commodity was dull in the morning, but at the finish was fairly firm with buyers at 8 11/16d. The stocks in the United Kingdom for the week are estimated at some 1,150 tons higher.

LONDON MINING MARKET

HESITATING TENDENCY

With the settlement safely out of the way—the one small feature was without significance—markets generally were fairly firm yesterday. Central Mining and Rand Mines were prominent, the Cape being still a modest buyer. Paris, however, was doing little, and the international counters were somewhat undecided, the tone at the close being quiet. Rhodesians made a rather mixed showing, and, while the Copper descriptions were easier on the fall in the metal price and the uncertainty as to the American outlook, the Gold shares held up well. Diamonds were less active than on the preceding day. West Africans were mostly content to maintain former levels. A rather nervous tendency was noticeable in the Tin share market on the sharp decline in the metal price. Australians were almost lifeless. Closing prices:—

HAMMOND LANE FOUNDRY CO., LTD.

BIG EXPANSION OF BUSINESS

The Hammond Lane Foundry Company, Limited, of Dublin, can in these days be regarded as an industrial veteran. It was established over 35 years ago during a period when industrial development was not receiving much encouragement in this country, and the fact that it not merely survived in spite of unrestricted competition, but has developed and expanded, speaks volumes for its efficient and successful management. The company to-day employs 800 workers and its works and plant cover an area of eight acres in the heart of the City of Dublin.

The Hammond Lane Foundry Co., Ltd., has now reached such a stage of development that its range of products include nearly every metal commodity that is required in the erection of the most modern house, such as all cast iron work, grates, ranges, gutters, pipes, cisterns, copper cylinders, hot water tanks, open top cisterns, taps, and so on.

The activities and operations are now being further extended. The company has acquired the business of the brass and bell foundry carried on by the late Mr. Mathew Byrne. This is one of the oldest businesses of its kind in Ireland or Great Britain. It was established nearly a century ago, and so famous have its products become that bells manufactured there now ring in almost every country in the world. The work in this foundry is being extended and new plant is in course of installation for the production of a wide range of brass work, such as taps, couplings and brass pressings of all descriptions.

The Hammond Lane Foundry has also acquired a controlling interest in the Western Iron Company, Ltd., of Sligo, and the development of this business will bring benefit not only to the West of Ireland, but will enable the parent company to produce and market its manufactures with greater economy and quicker delivery. A feature of the company's enterprise is the installation of plant and machinery for the production and printing of every type of drum required for all the popular brands of lubricating oil for motor cars and machinery of various kinds.

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS

British Property in Shanghai

It is expected that at the meeting in London on Wednesday next, called by the Federation of British Industries to discuss the effect of the war in Shanghai on trade interests, discussion will centre on the question of taking action to protect British property and to press for prompt compensation for materials destroyed. Manchester will be represented by Sir Kenneth Stewart, chairman of the China section of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce, and Mr. Arthur Reiss, as well as by a representative from the Calico Printers' Association. Textiles stocked in warehouses in Shanghai are estimated to be worth from £50,000 to £100,000.

CIVIC GUARDS SEND SYMPATHY

The Royal Ulster Constabulary have received a telegram on behalf of the Irish Free State Civic Guard, conveying deep sympathy on the sudden death of District Inspector Lewis, Chief of the Criminal Investigation Department. District Inspector Lewis died suddenly while shooting on a mountain in North Antrim.

At the funeral to-day the Civic Guard will be represented by Chief Superintendent Clarke and Chief Superintendent McGloin, of the Criminal Investigation Department.

Walter Seaman, aged 70, of Brentwood, Essex, has driven a taxi-cab since 1914 without accident. A few days before he was due to retire he was involved in a collision with a cyclist. At Brentwood Police Court he was fined £3 for careless driving, and said he deeply regretted that this solitary mishap should have marred his long record.

THE AMERICAN MARKETS

ANOTHER BAD BREAK ON WALL STREET

From Reuter's Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Friday.

A renewed heavy slump on Wall Street, in which the pivotals lost 1 dollar to 6 dollars, was attributed to additional forced selling as a result of the earlier break. Soon after midday the list went into a headlong decline with incessant selling waves sweeping the market, as apart from the deflationary implications of the Anglo-American "hot money" discussions, the prevailing gloom was intensified by growing doubts anent the American business outlook and reports that the leading Eastern railroads have dismissed thousands of employés with the object of curtailing the drop in their revenue. There was talk of a large London account involving holdings in U. S. Steel, Chrysler Motors and General Motors, having been taken over privately. Sales totalled 2,480,000 shares.

In the afternoon, the determined downward movement was checked periodically by periods of moderate support, which, however, failed to restore confidence, and the fall continued in a highly nervous market. Traders at this point regarded the selling as being partly of a necessitous nature, at the same time substantial liquidation was reported from abroad.

Another and somewhat wider rally then appeared, as a result of which many securities moved slightly above the previous extreme recessions, but this was followed by a further drastic slump which forced the list down to still new low levels. With liquidation apparent everywhere the "ticker" fell 3 minutes behind as the end of the session approached, and the close itself was weak in the extreme.

Sterling exchange opened ⅛ down at 4.94⅞ and declined during the morning to 4.94⅝. The rate remained at this level in the afternoon, but finally advanced and closed 1/16 higher—compared with the previous close—at 4.95 1/16.

Silver was unchanged at 44⅞c.

1,000-YEAR-OLD SKELETONS

THE YORKSHIRE DISCOVERY

There is to be no inquest on the four skeletons recently unearthed at Ailey Hill, a historic mound standing in the grounds of the home of the Archdeacon of Richmond at Ripon, during excavations by the Harrogate group of the Yorkshire Archæological Society.

The discovery of the skeletons was notified as a matter of course to the Coroner for the district, Mr. W. H. Coverdale, but he has decided that an inquest is unnecessary.

He states that he is satisfied from the evidence of "those who are in authority on these matters that the skeletons are at least 1,000 years old, and that ends the matter so far as I am concerned."

The view is held that Ailey Hill, where these skeletons were found, may be the burial place of two kings, who were killed in a battle fought between Ripon and York in 867 A.D.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

ENGLAND'S STRONG LEAD

From Our Special Correspondent.

BELFAST, Friday.

Play began to-day at 2.30 in the Grand Central Hotel, Belfast, in the seventh international contract bridge match of the series arranged by the Bridge Board of Control. England are playing against Northern Ireland, and the match is a very important one, since England has won two matches and the Free State has won three. These two countries meet next at Blackpool in the deciding match of the championship.

Northern Ireland made a good start and steadily forged ahead, and after nine boards led by 2,050 points. Over the next three boards England won back 1,210 points, and play continued very even until, at board 39, Northern Ireland was only 150 points in front. The next two boards gave a big swing in favour of England, who gained 1,510 points. At the first of these boards England made a small slam, which was defeated by one trick in the play in the other room. On the second of the boards England bid a small slam in diamonds, which was only bid to five by Northern Ireland.

At the close of play, when 50 boards had been played, England led by 1,360 points.

Play will be resumed at 2 p.m. to-morrow, and will conclude at about 9.30 p.m.

At 10.25 p.m. an eye-witness's account of the match will be broadcast from the Northern Ireland Station by Captain Ewart Kempson. This is the first time that the B.B.C. has broadcast these international matches, although Radio Athlone has already broadcast both of the international matches played in the Free State. This match is vitally important, for the Free State meet England in October.

The teams are:—Northern Ireland—Messrs. Hanna (captain), Goldblatt, Shanks, Gabby, Fletcher, and Professor MacKinnon. England—Messrs. L. Tarlo, J. Tarlo, Merkin, B. Cohen, Mercado, and Dr. Whitby (captain).

The referee is Mr. A. Deverley Clerrie (Scottish Bridge Union).
